'ARMED TO TEETH,' BEN-GURION HECKLED

LONDON (AP)—Crowds of Arab students shouting anti-Israeli slogans paraded at London airport today as Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion arrived for talks with British leaders.

Police hustled the demonstrators out of the way. A huge banner with "Israel is armed to the teeth" in foot-high letters was torn apart in the tussle.

'Creeping Anarchy' Off Coasts

Considers Limit

GENEVA (AP)—Representatives of 86 countries met today to begin another attempt at agreement on how far out to sea a country's sovereignty extends.

Their purpose is to halt what many officials call creeping anarchy along the world's coasts.

The conference on the law of the sea here two years ago accepted four conventions which for the first time set world-wide rules governing territorial waters, the high seas and the offshore shallow ocean beds of the continental shelves.

LIMITS NOT SET

But these are not effective without agreement on where sovereign rights should end and the open sea begin.

Many maritime powers still abide by the three-mile limit generally accepted since the time of sailing vessels and naval guns that could not shoot that far. But more and more smaller and younger countries have pushed their sea borders beyond that limit.

The insistence of many Latin-American and Asian countries and the Communist bloc forced the leading maritime powers to drop the principle of the three-mile limit in favor of a United States-British compromise—six miles for territorial waters and 12 miles for exclusive fishing rights.

But this failed to receive a two-thirds majority from the conference two years ago. It is expected to be resubmitted in revised form.

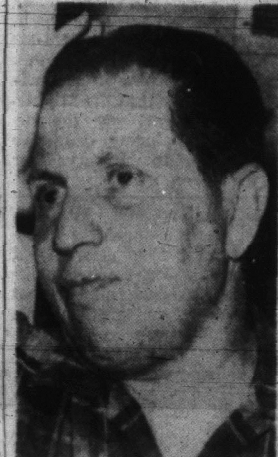

Since the last maritime conference, Iran and Panama have pushed their sea borders out toward the 12-mile limit. Britain has granted Denmark exclusive fishing rights in a six-mile belt around the Faroe Islands.

STARTED FISH WAR

And Iceland triggered a "fish war" with Britain by extending its territorial waters from three to 12 miles in 1958. Britain, whose boats pioneered fishing in Icelandic waters, refused to recognize the new limit and sent naval vessels to protect trawlers fishing up to the old limit of three miles from the Icelandic coast. The British trawlers and their navy protectors have withdrawn for the duration of the conference.

Chile, El Salvador and Peru claim sovereign rights up to distances of 200 miles. At least 14 countries claim 12-mile limits and 14 others with narrower territorial belts, among them Canada, claim exclusive fishing rights up to 200 miles out.

Canada's delegation at the conference here is being led by George Drew, high commissioner to the United Kingdom.

TEDDY NADLER

Quiz Whiz Not So Smart On Job Test

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Teddy Nadler, who won $264,000 on television quiz shows, today lost a chance for a $13-a-day job as a census taker when he flunked the qualification test.

Jack W. Traverse Jr., regional field director for the census bureau, said Nadler "did well on the first 30 questions but did not make the grade on the final 16."

The first part of the test consisted of multiple-choice questions on the definitions of words. The second part was a map comprehension section. The applicants were asked to do such things as indicating which of several buildings was closest to a certain highway.

Traverse said Nadler apparently "got mixed up on east and west."

WHO DAUBED SWASTIKAS?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two crude swastikas were mysteriously scribbled in the guest book at the national gallery of art today minutes after West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer signed the book.

The swastikas appeared directly over Adenauer's signature.

An art gallery spokesman said the swastikas could only have been drawn by members of the press or members of Adenauer's party. He said these were the only persons who had access to the gallery between the time the chancellor signed the book and the time the swastikas were discovered.

Newsmen, however, had been barred from the room where the guest book is kept.

Racial Barrier Removal Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to immediately permit twice as many immigrants to come to the United States and open the gates to refugees from persecution anywhere in the world.

A key feature of his program would be the abandonment of racial barriers and the easing of nationality restrictions.

In a special message sent to the House and Senate, Eisenhower recommended immediate passage of legislation to double the over-all annual immigration quotas.

At present, about 154,000 immigrants come to the U.S. under the annual quotas set by law. The president's program would raise this to about 300,000 by allowing quota immigration equal to one-sixth of 1 per cent of the total U.S. population each year.

MORE ASIATICS

More liberal immigration from the so-called Asiatic-Pacific triangle in the Orient would also be allowed.

Under the proposed legislation, refugees from oppression would be allowed to come here under parole.

His special legislation for the refugees would allow acceptance of thousands of victims from oppression and those forced to flee their homes because of political, racial or religious persecution.

The White House explained that this would be general in application and not limited to victims of communism. It could mean admission of refugees from upheavals in Latin America.

In backing his proposal for the admission of refugees on a parole basis, Eisenhower noted that 1960 was "World Refugee Year." He said that nations in the past which granted asylum to victims of persecution never had cause to regret their action.

"These persons with their intellectual idealism and toughness will become worthwhile citizens and will keep this nation strong and respected as a contributor of thought and ideas," he told Congress.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O God, we sit across the aisle from our fellows in the bus and do not smile. An aged neighbor tries to detain us long enough to tell us something and so become useful and wanted again, and we shake him off. O God, why do we raise these barriers? What is the sin of man, that he can't be comfortable with his fellow man? Help us, O God, to think upon these things and be ashamed; in Jesus' name. Amen.

FLORIDA DAM BREAK THREAT TO 25,000

PLANT CITY, Fla. (AP)—The Lake Magdalene dam in North Tampa burst today, threatened the homes of about 25,000 persons with flooding.

Tractors and bulldozers were hurried to the area, hoping to check the water and ease the danger to Forest Hills section two miles south of the dam.

Residents of that area were advised to take immediate precautions.

Small craft warnings were hoisted around the entire Florida peninsula as violent weather lashed the state for the third straight day.

Canada Policy Attacked

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., told the Abbotsford Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night the government's attitude toward immigration changes with prosperity or recession.

Speaking on the economic outlook of Canada, Mr. Grauer said: "Immigration is not something a country can turn off or on at will."

"If it is important for the future growth of Canada to have a steady flow of immigrants, federal policy will have to allow a reasonable number of immigrants to enter Canada even during a period of some recession."

2nd French Bomb Tuesday

PARIS (UPI)—France plans to explode its second nuclear device at its Sahara desert testing ground shortly after daylight next Tuesday, an authoritative source said today. That is the day before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is arriving on a state visit.

"All right, children, finish up... then we'll go and try to find some wild flowers..." —Baron, Victoria Daily Times.

'Ban Atoms' In Outer Space

GENEVA (CP)—The United States called today for an immediate East-West agreement to ban nuclear weapons in outer space.

RUSSIA RAPS UNDERGROUND TEST BY U.S.

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today attacked the United States for its intention to explode an underground nuclear device next January.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told a session of the three-power conference on a nuclear test ban that he found the news "most discouraging."

But the sources said that Tsarapkin's remarks were "mild" compared to his previous attacks on the United States.

Sask. Rink Wins Ladies' Curling Title

The Joyce McKee rink of Saskatoon today captured the Western Canada Women's Curling Championship.

The impressive prairie foursome defeated Mrs. Dorothy Thompson of Edmonton, 1954 western champion from Alberta, 11-11, in the final round at the Victoria Curling Club.

The Saskatchewan rink went through the double round-robin competition with a record of five wins and one loss.

Alberta finished second with a 4-2 mark.

The Saskatoon rink, including Sylvia Fedoruk, Donna Baiding, Muriel Cohen, now moves into an east-west play-off at Oshawa, Ontario, to determine the Canadian champion.

Castro Denounced

Tanker Spills Gas

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—An American tanker and a Norwegian motor vessel collided in the darkness of the Hampton Roads harbor channel early today, spilling 150,000 gallons of gasoline from a hole in the tanker's bow. There were no injuries.

THEY DON'T ALL LOVE THE IRISH IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—A 50-year-old physician was seized early today while daubing orange paint over the green divider line painted along Fifth Avenue for the St. Patrick's Day parade.

The man identified himself as Dr. Lester Levengston. He was charged with malicious mischief. Police said they found him, with paint brush and bucket, repainting the green strip between 67th and 68th streets, in front of the reviewing stand. They said about 50 feet of the green line had been changed. The still-wet orange paint was washed away.

SECOND TRIAL MAY 23

Carole Set Free On $25,000 Bail

VOLCANO ROCKS ISLE

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A volcano erupted with a shattering roar on a tiny island off New Guinea today, burying new native villages under a shower of hot ash and lava.

No loss of life was expected, however, because the 4,000 inhabitants had been warned of the impending eruption by months of earth trembling and subterranean rumblings.

The two villages, nestled on the slopes of the volcano of Manam Island, were evacuated some time ago on the orders of New Guinea authorities.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge today ordered Carole Tregoff released on $25,000 bail, pending her retrial with Dr. R. Bernard Finch on charges of murdering his wife. The court set the retrial for May 23.

Tears rolled down the cheeks of the surgeon's mistress as she heard the order letting her out of jail.

Dr. Finch came over and whispered to her. He was denied freedom on bail.

Also turned down was a motion by Carole's lawyer to have her trial separated from the doctor's.

THERE'LL BE FLURRY IN STRAIT

'Sea Monster' Here Friday

The 63,500-ton aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea is scheduled to arrive off the Victoria waterfront at 8 a.m. Friday.

On her way from Bremerton to Vancouver for a good visit at the mainland port, the big carrier will be the centre of a flurry of activity in Juan de Fuca Strait, involving helicopters, RCN surface craft, and a pilotage launch.

She will steam slowly up the Strait from Bremerton, close to the U.S. shore until she turns north in the vicinity of Port Townsend.

The Coral Sea will reach the pilotage buoy in the treeways about two miles south of the Broche Ledge light at 8 a.m.

'COPTER TO LAND

At approximately 8:15 a.m., an RCN helicopter from Sea Island will land on her flight deck to disembark a party of armed forces representatives from Vancouver.

Shortly after 8:15, a navy harborcraft will put RCN officials and press representatives aboard the ship.

At 8:30 a.m., RCN helicopter No. 621 from Patricia Bay airport will land and Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer, Pacific Coast, will board the Coral Sea with his flag lieutenant.

A second RCN helicopter (No. 622) will hover overhead to take official navy photographs.

At 8:45 a.m., the B.C. Pilot launch will go alongside to put the pilot, Capt. Walter Gosse of Vancouver, aboard.

The Coral Sea will then steam slowly toward the mainland, using the outside passage around East Point.

Pender Island residents will see her pass between 11:30 a.m. and noon.

Capt. J. S. Gray, commanding officer of the Coral Sea, told the Times he has a "little surprise" for Vancouver. Going under the Lions Gate Bridge, crewmen on the flight deck will spell out the word "Canada" below an outline of a maple leaf.

Best vantage point to see the big ship while she lies off Broche Ledge will be in the Ogden Point-Holland Point-Clover Point area.

POLICE TODAY BURNED through a heavy layer of snow in this picturesque end of St. Louis Canyon on Starved Rock State Park, Ill., in search of clues to the murderers of three socialite matrons whose ravished bodies were found in a nearby cave. Police said they had no new clues but flame-throwers were being used to melt the snow in the hope that something would be found. See Page 29. (AP Wirephoto)

IN THE HOUSE

WITH Norman Cribbens

When legislators get tired, little things mean a lot (of annoyance) and it was evident early today that Mr. Gagliardi's imitation of a sea lion ("Ol") every time a government estimate was called had a slightly fraying effect on the nerves of the Opposition.

"I object to the honorable minister of highways making weird noises when he is not even in his place, and on a vote which does not concern him," complained Gordon Dowding, the very earnest CCF member for Burnaby.

True Mr. Gagliardi wasn't in his place. He had left his seat in the Cabinet and appeared to be flirting with Mrs. Buda Brown, the vivacious Social Credit member for Vancouver-Point Grey.

Furthermore, the House was discussing estimates for the department of Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, not Mr. Gagliardi's. So Mr. Dowding had a point.

Mrs. Lois Haggan, the CCF member for Grand Forks-Greenwood, put in a plea for preservation of the many historical sites in British Columbia, especially Barkerville.

Randolph Harding, the CCF member for Kaslo-Slocan, turned this to his own advantage when he said: "Black-top in my riding is an historic sight (site) and we would like to be preserved, too."

Mr. Black assured Mrs. Haggan that the government is interested in historical sites all over the province—and as an example he mentioned reconstruction of the "Wake Up Jake" saloon at Barkerville.

How would you feel if someone towed your car away while you were fishing in your favorite stream?

Such a situation was envisaged by Gordon Dowding (CCF-Burnaby) while discussing a bill making it legal for cars to be towed away if they are left, without permission, on private property.

Mr. Dowding pointed out that any occupier (whoever he might be) could disrupt a picnic or fishing expedition in short order under this new provision in the Motor Vehicle Act.

Thirty-five students from Cowichan High School, Duncan, sat in the public galleries Wednesday afternoon and tried to reconcile what they saw and heard with their studies of parliaments through the ages.

"We had no idea it was so informal," said one bright-eyed miss. "The members talk back and forth and get excited, but they don't seem as dignified as in the old days."

Oldest member in the public galleries was 91-year-old James Morton. Mr. Morton is one of only two surviving members of the legislative press gallery of 1905, the other being Major-General Victor Odium.

What does Mr. Morton think of the legislature in 1960? "It's alive," he says, "but not nearly as spirited as it used to be. Why, I've seen fisticuffs on the floor of this House."

Mrs. Marian G. Austin, sister of Mrs. Lois Haggan, from Great Falls, Montana, also sat in the public galleries.

After spending the winter with their brother at Fairbanks, Alaska, Mrs. Austin flew to Seattle by jet plane in two and a half hours and found the journey "exhilarating."

Stanley Carnell, the Social Credit member for South Peace River, has received a letter from Stamp Savers Alliance of Toronto.

The letter bore a one-cent stamp, so Mr. Carnell had to pay two cents to collect it.

CCF CHARGE

Dental Report 'Hidden'

The suggestion that the Dr. Gordon Shrum committee report on licensing of dental technicians is hidden "under the rug" by the B.C. government, was voiced in the legislature Wednesday.

Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) read a letter from a member of the committee, whom he did not name, saying proposed regulations were submitted to the government last December.

Yet Mr. Turner had been told the report was not received by the cabinet. The letter writer said the report was sent back to the committee, then re-submitted to the government, without amendment.

Provincial secretary W. D. Black, whose estimates were under study, said he had not received the report. If he had gone so, he would have presented it to the cabinet.

BLOCK SALARY?

Health Minister Eric Martin, whose department was cited as having received the report, said the Shrum committee had asked that it be returned. Latest information was that it was in the hands of the committee secretary. The committee is not ready to forward it to Victoria, said Mr. Martin. Opposition members suggested the minister's salary vote be withdrawn until the report was found and the matter cleared.

Mr. Black objected. "It's not my function to go witch-hunting after reports."

"We should all go to the minister's office and make a search," Opposition Leader Strachan said. "We might find a few other things there as well—like the Carrothers report." This is a report on civil service bargaining filed a year ago but never made public.

Master Plan For Newcastle

NANAIMO (CP)—Recreation Minister Earle Westwood told the Nanaimo Social Credit Association Wednesday that before the provincial government decides to do any construction on Newcastle Island, which is to become a provincial park, a master plan will be created.

QUESTION OF PROFITS

Lawyers Don't Go 'On Strike'

A lawyer's right to withdraw his services when a client doesn't meet his price is far different from a trade union going on strike, George Gregory (Lib., Victoria) claimed Wednesday.

Speaking in the legislature he re-opened a tiff with Opposition Leader Robert Strachan which began two weeks ago. It started when Mr. Gregory said B.C. unions should accept voluntary arbitration, as teachers and firemen are now required to do, to keep labor peace.

Mr. Strachan drew admission from Mr. Gregory at that time, that as a lawyer he would not work for anyone who did not meet his price. Mr. Strachan said that is all labor wants and arbitration abrogates this right. The house howled.

Mr. Gregory said Wednesday, "It is a matter of embarrassment to me that I failed to see the point he was driving at and accordingly lost a for-ensic battle."

He said there is no parallel between himself and a union, "because when I don't work for a client who won't pay my fee, I work instead for one who will."

"There is little, if any similarity between one man's refusal to work at a specific job and 26,000 men's refusal to work at all... I can demonstrate that it is profitable (in his case) whereas in the other, I can equally demonstrate that it was most unprofitable."

A-Bomb Power Given

PARIS (CP)—The French atomic bomb exploded in the Sahara Desert last month had a power equivalent of between 60,000 and 70,000 tons of TNT, it was officially announced Wednesday. The first U.S. bomb exploded at Hiroshima, Japan, in 1945 was equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT.

To Adjourn Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons will probably adjourn Wednesday, April 13, for its Easter recess and resume sittings on Monday, April 25, it was learned today.

BEAUTY QUEEN of Austria Johanna Ehrenstrasser today was sentenced to 12 months in jail for stealing almost $20,000 worth of furs and jewelry in a shoplifting spree. Defence argued vainly that the 21-year-old glamor girl was the victim of a reducing drug she had taken to preserve her figure.

BONN, Germany (AP)—A West German air force transport, flown by a crew of six non-commissioned officers, disappeared Tuesday on a freight run from Neuburg, Bavaria, to Turin, Italy.

Gov't to Hold Line On NHA Mortgages

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The Commons unanimously approved the principle of an extension of the National Housing Act Wednesday, with the government promising to hold the line on interest rates and expressing hope the rate on some mortgages might drop.

Works Minister Walker said no increase in the present 6 per cent limit on NHA loans is going to be made, and that the lending institutions could charge less.

Immediately after the NHA bill was given second reading, Conservative rebel MP J. C. Van Horne, Restigouche-Madawaska, said the government's program does not go far enough.

The bill raises the total amount of funds the government can have outstanding in NHA loans to $1,500,000,000 from $1,000,000,000.

The government will put $150,000,000 to $175,000,000 in loans for house construction as soon as the bill is passed by the Commons and Senate, Mr. Walker said.

Mr. Walker said the government feels sure that all individual builders seeking direct NHA loans will be able to get them, up to the level of direct loans made last year. The program was not intended to help development speculators and large contractors.

He expressed surprise at a suggestion made Tuesday by CCF House Leader Hazen Argue that the government was deliberately curtailing housing loans in order to balance the federal budget. No money put out in housing loans by the government is counted as a budget expense, the minister said.

Mr. Walker said, however, the government does not intend to extend direct loans to home builders beyond $175,000 this year. The funds had to be borrowed by the government in the first place from the capital market, and the government wanted to leave some room there for provincial and municipal fund raising.

Moreover, the government had to be cautious after 2½ years of very heavy construction activity.

Winch Pleads for More Aid for Aged

A plea for more federal aid in providing inexpensive housing for elderly persons was made by Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East).

Speaking on a government measure to increase the amount of money available for federal housing loans, Mr. Winch said the government has a responsibility to do more than it now does for senior citizens.

It should at least partly meet provincial capital grants toward the cost of housing for this class, such as British Columbia provides.

The federal government now provides lower than normal National Housing Act loans, but Mr. Winch said it should go further.

Works Minister Walker, whose housing bill was under discussion, said he and his officials would study the suggestion.

The royal prerogative of mercy was used to refund bail of $20,000 to Mrs. Anna Badman of Vancouver last year, Health Minister Monteith said in reply to George McInraith (L-Ottawa West).

Mrs. Badman had put up the bail for Louis Bronson, arrested and charged under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act in 1956, who did not stay around for the trial.

Senator Wishart Robertson came to the defence of West Germany Wednesday, a country he admired for its "political courage, sound judgment and farsightedness."

The Nova Scotia Liberal, honorary life president of the NATO parliamentarians conference, said in the Senate that he is disturbed at interpretations being placed by the West on recent developments affecting West Germany.

"For my part I cannot see any great sin in Germany having bases elsewhere, since we are doing so," he said. The United States already had bases in Spain.

He said it was the Western Allies who insisted in 1955 that Germany re-arm. Germans generally were opposed. The Adenauer government was dedicated to making butter, not guns.

Fisheries Minister MacLean said Wednesday it does not appear that the question of assistance for the British Columbia whaling fleet is one for the federal government.

Mr. MacLean said he had received a report from the whaling company that it was not its intention to operate this year because it would not be economical to do so.

A telegram from the fishermen's union was under consideration "but it would appear to be not under the jurisdiction of the federal government."

Chain Store Boycott Proposed by Negroes

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes throughout the United States are being urged not to spend their money in chain stores that refuse to let Negroes eat at lunch counters alongside white customers.

The element of economic pressure was introduced Wednesday by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as hundreds of Negroes in half a dozen southern cities faced fines and jail terms for demonstrating against segregated eating facilities.

The NAACP said all its members will be asked to withhold patronage from branches of four variety chains—Woolworth, Kresge, Kress and Grant's—and one independent department store, Thalheimer's in Richmond, Va.

The development came on the heels of mass Negro demonstrations and a statement by President Eisenhower that there is nothing improper or unconstitutional about orderly marching in the streets and peaceful assembly by groups seeking to show their desires for equality.

But the president, at his regular press conference, made no direct comment on the sit-down demonstrations.

HEAVY STORM TOLL IN Nfld.

GRAND BANK, Nfld. (CP)

—Damage was estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars here Wednesday after a two-day battering from one of the worst storms ever to hit southern Newfoundland.

A 60-mile-an-hour gale with up to 12 inches of snow cut telegraph and telephone communications with the outside world, knocked out power and water services and washed away buildings, wharves and oil tanks.

Plea for Tolerance By S. Africa Editor

CAPETOWN (Reuters)

The editor of a pro-government newspaper Tuesday night urged white South Africans to abandon the idea that the white man is superior to non-whites.

G. D. Scholtz, editor of the Afrikaans language paper Die Transvaler, urged white South Africans to change drastically their attitudes on race matters.

He told a dinner of the Women's Club of Parliament that spiritual isolation is one of the main characteristics of white South Africans.

Persistence in isolationism would lead to the destruction of white civilization in South Africa, he said, adding that white citizens are ignorant of attitudes in other countries.

The Rake's Progress

IN PLAIN TERMS MR. COYNE tells the Canadian people they have been sowing the wind and, in due season, will reap the whirlwind. This warning does not come from a politician who must comfort or alarm the public to secure its votes. It comes from the non-partisan governor of the Bank of Canada, a great public servant with no axe to grind.

A smaller man than Mr. Coyne could have used his annual report to utter an array of technical platitudes and avoid any conflict with the Government or with public opinion. Mr. Coyne rejects this easy course and tells both Government and public the truth as he sees it.

He sees it in very somber tones. The nation, he says, has been living wildly beyond its means on money borrowed from foreigners. And for this a heavy price must be paid not long hence unless our rake's progress is arrested.

If we continue our present course, Mr. Coyne believes, we shall not only be in a weak state to meet any business recession imported from the world but may well produce a domestic recession of our own.

It will be the consequence of strains and distortions within our domestic economy and they, in turn, are the consequence of an attempt to do too much, too fast on borrowed foreign money.

Clearly Mr. Coyne disagrees with two cardinal assumptions of the Federal Government.

Without referring to the minister of trade and commerce, Mr. Coyne flatly rejects Mr. Churchill's cheerful assurance that our gigantic and growing foreign debt is nothing to worry about.

It may not worry Mr. Churchill's politicians. It deeply worries Mr. Coyne, a financier and economist. For this debt must be repaid in foreign currency, mostly American, and to acquire these funds we must eventually sell abroad more than we buy. But at the moment we are buying abroad far more than we sell and covering our deficit by borrowing still more foreign money. We are borrowing, in fact, to pay the interest on our debts.

Moreover, we are borrowing when our dollar is at a premium and may have to repay later when it is at a discount, with heavy extra costs to be met by the taxpayers of all governments. In this process we are still giving foreigners control of a large part of our industry.

Secondly, Mr. Coyne rejects the notion, on which the Federal Government's whole fiscal policy has been built, that unemployment can be cured, business nourished, and depressed local areas revived by the mere act of spending more public money.

On the contrary, says Mr. Coyne, the expansion of the currency and deficit spending, at the wrong time, can stimulate inflation while "they can do very little to cure unemployment not due to any deficiency in the total demand in Canada, or to improve the competitive position of small business and Canadian-owned enterprise."

Such policies will only increase imports, and production and employment outside Canada. Under present conditions, when there is no shortage of money and business conditions as a whole are prosperous, what we need is reduced spending, increased saving, less foreign borrowing, and more efficient domestic production to replace imports.

This advice will not be palatable to the Federal Government in general and Mr. Churchill, the defender of foreign debt, in particular. But it probably will help Mr. Fleming in his fight with the Cabinet to get the Government's disordered finances under control.

Also, Mr. Coyne's courageous report may help the Canadian people to see that their "easy-going illusions" are leading them toward the gravest kind of trouble, may persuade us all, in Mr. Coyne's final words, to "stand on our own feet." Standing on foreign loans which may dry up at any time, we are due for a painful fall.

The Municipalities Pay

MR. BENNETT'S GOVERNMENT has graciously exempted non-profit senior citizens housing developments from municipal taxation.

This helps only a fraction of our old people. It does nothing for the pensioner of small means who sits in his single room. But insofar as it is a gesture to assist some of our elderly people, or at least the organizations which give them non-profit housing, it will be appreciated as aid to a class which deserves consideration.

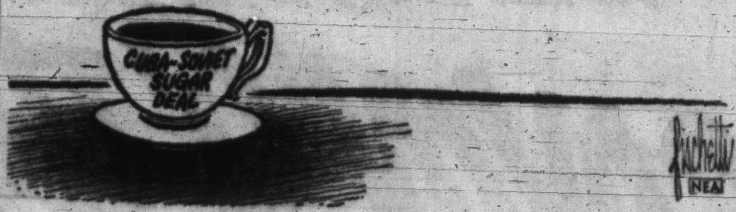

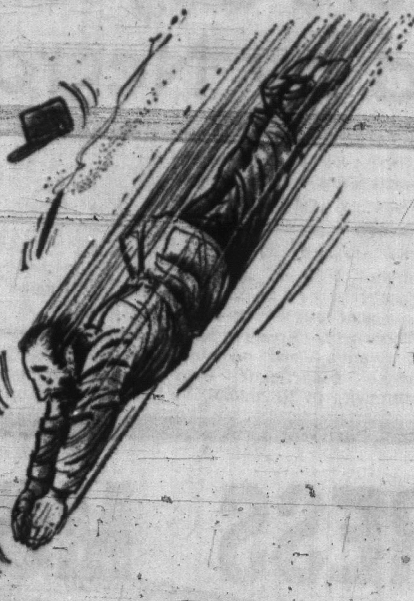

There is, however, one feature of the action which raises a question. Mr. Bennett's Government will supply funds equivalent to school taxes on the property, but allow the cities and municipalities to pick up the tab for the greater amount represented in general taxes. In other words, Mr. Bennett makes a good fellow of himself at the expense of the municipalities and the municipal taxpayer.

The amount entailed is negligible. It may run to $5,000 or less this year in the city. But if the sum is not important, the precedent thus established is dangerous—a precedent for granting municipal tax exemption to a special group without consent from the municipality.

Once that arrow had been fired into the bond barge at Kelowna, succeeding Robin Hood postures were probably inevitable.

The Outcome Should Be Interesting

Joe Howe's Dim Harem

FOR the young, certain recent statistics must be terrifying. For the Western Reserve University in Cleveland, which has been reading furiously on the subject, 2,000 new pages of books, newspapers and reports are published throughout the world during each minute of the day and night, seven days a week, year after year. This makes 2,880,000 pages a day or 1,051,200,000 pages a year.

How is any man, however well trained in modern reading techniques, to keep up with this avalanche? Even assuming that he need not bother with most of it, the reading required by an educated man, the reading required by any voter if he is to be fit for the franchise, is staggering.

THE Vancouver Sun (having turned in despair from current publications to the simpler works of the past) recalls that old Joe Howe, of Nova Scotia, faced the same sort of dilemma in his more primitive era.

"We have beside us," wrote the great Maritime editor, "a mountain of books, magazines, pamphlets and newspapers that have been accumulating for the past two months, unopened and unread. Like a Turk in the dim twilight of his harem, we scarcely know which to choose."

If Howe's cluttered sanctum was less attractive than a harem, he could not foresee the deluge now descending on a modern newspaper office, the million tons of printed matter flying through the airmail and ending in the waste paper basket, the envelopes unopened, the incinerators burning up whole forests every day.

EVEN to read the Hansard of Parliament requires a good hour five days a week for the dozen or two Canadians who like to know what the democratic process is doing. There is no other way to find out.

But when it comes to books a strange literary hypocrisy pervades a land which must keep up not only with the Jones in conspicuous waste of all sorts but must keep up not only with the Jones.

The hypocrites, usually among our best citizens, like to pretend that they have read at least all the important books spilling from the presses in endless torrent. Ask such a man if he has read this book or that and he will invariably reply that he has, or is about to.

Like another kind of man who must have the latest automobile, or the woman who must have the latest hairdo, your bookish egotist must know the latest volume even though that pursuit is mathematically hopeless.

ENCOUNTERING such a man today, I asked him how many books he read. He said he read one every day and thus felt that he was on top of the job.

With a rough feat of mental arithmetic, I pointed out that he read 365 books a year, or only 3,650 in a decade, or less than 30,000 in a long lifetime, if he had launched his attack on the world's thought at the tender age of 10 years.

The figures depressed that poor man and he went home sadly to watch television.

Of course the thing is hopeless and yet there is no substitute for the book. It is not only different in size but in kind from any other form of communication and without it no great idea can be truly communicated.

THE old learn, therefore, that they must be content with a few books out of the swarm and will be lucky if, in a lifetime, they acquire one or two ideas, enough to make them rich in comparison to the general run of men. It is impossible to support Joe Howe's harem.

As his time closes in, a man must choose his books almost as carefully as he would choose a wife, rejecting the gaudy new volumes and bedizened upstarts, living monogamously, or almost, with a few reliable mates until death do them part.

After a while he stands calmly on the shore and lets the swollen tide of paper roll by him, knowing that a library of several hundred books at most contains all he needs, or can possibly know, probably much more.

Not Tranquillizing

We do not go so far as to say that Castro is a Communist or that his government wants to ally itself with the Soviet Union against the continental brotherhood. But the nature of his policies is not tranquillizing to the Pan-American family.—Globo, Rio de Janeiro.

Sound Policy

In the interests of sound monetary policy, and of a sound economic structure, a basic element in our national life which is the function of monetary policy to promote, it seems appropriate now at the beginning of a new decade, and in many ways of a new era in world economic development, to pause and ask ourselves if it would really be desirable to continue along the path indicated by the tendencies of recent years.

Every if we were intent on trying to continue in that way, it must be recognized that in a capital-hungry world we cannot, in fact, count on having ready access to foreign capital year after year on a large scale.

The longer the process of attempted over-expansion, or over-rapid expansion goes on, the more maladjustments will be built into our economy, and the more difficult and painful will be the readjustments which will in time be forced upon us.

We must in the end learn as a nation to live within our means, and exhibit the strength and will to do so. It would in my view be the path of realism to move firmly in that direction on a broad front without delay.

There is no reason in principle why Canada could not make great progress without drawing on the savings of foreigners on a huge scale to finance our capital expenditures or consumption. We could do so just as most other countries in the Western world do, and as other Re the Saturday article entitled Nature Rambles by Freeman King.

How very unfortunate such a brief space is given to something which every school child should be taught—love of nature and respect for same.

Perhaps through the medium of the press Mr. King would be permitted space to include a sketch of some of the wild flowers which will soon be our pleasure to see.

It must be very gratifying for Mr. King to note the interest of the Natural History Society to provide, with help, a natural park at Thetis Lake, where it is hoped future generations may be made aware of the beauty of nature, and it is a pleasure to read an article written by someone with such a vast knowledge and a sincere understanding of the beautiful trees, flowers, and the great outdoors.

Both Types of Light

I have noticed, throughout the controversy of the cluster lights, that no mention has been made of leaving the present attractive lights as they are, and installing the vapor lights above them. This seems to me and others I have discussed the matter with, to be an excellent solution to the whole problem.

There is no point in just having our tourist attractions around the Empress Hotel area, because, for one reason, few people arrive in the city at that point now. The vast majority enter along the Douglas-Street route, from up-land points and Sidney.

I might mention that this Douglas Street approach to Victoria is fast becoming cluttered with assorted restaurants, beereries, gas stations, etc. In a short time it will be exactly like Kingsway in Vancouver and like thousands of other messy, untidy towns and cities all over North America. The persons visiting here from these various places come to get away from all this over-development, and when they have to pass through it all to get to the centre of Victoria, they will undoubtedly go somewhere else in future, along with their friends.

I was born in Victoria, and have just reached voting age. I think many other persons around my age feel the same about this.

Thetis for Research

The killing of young salmon and the aquatic insects upon which they feed has resulted from spraying forests with DDT in both eastern and western Canada according to a report of the research branch, forest biology division, bi-monthly progress report, Jan.-Feb., 1960.

This discovery has greatly disturbed biologists owing to the importance of the salmon industry both to eastern and western Canada. Already progress has been made in the search for insecticides that will destroy the spruce bud worm and other forest insects and are not injurious to baby salmon and their food supply. These researchers illustrate the economic need of leaving park areas like Thetis Lake strictly alone.

In these days when both farmers and foresters spray their crops with a great variety of substances to control insects, disease and weeds, it is self-evident that secondary injury may escape notice unless biologists have undisturbed areas close at hand. All biologists hope that areas such as Thetis Lake that are practically undisturbed by modern agricultural, forestry and commercial practices will be available for comparative studies.

Even as a defence measure the existence of undisturbed areas may prove to be of inestimable value. Many leading authorities believe that biological warfare is more likely to occur than atomic warfare. Since biological warfare is essentially the art of upsetting nature's biological balance, the easiest means of detecting readily and quickly the presence in the atmosphere of crop or animal killing material, whether disease or chemicals, is to possess areas like Thetis Lake close to important biological research centres, areas wherein plant or animal injury cannot be blamed upon the current use of weedkillers, insecticides, and fungicides by farmers or foresters or upon the fumes from industrial operations.

Voice of Elmer Gantry?

In your issue of March 10 there appears a full page ad for M.R.A. According to this ad 18,000,000 copies of this booklet have gone out and 40,000,000 more are on the way.

I have received and read the booklet. It is a slight piece of propaganda by Dr. Frank Buchman and condemns any attempt at negotiation for peace.

Adenauer of Germany approves of Buchman whom he decorated with the Order of Merit. Adenauer says M.R.A. has helped greatly in international negotiations. Such as bases in Spain perhaps? Adenauer is all for peace through a change in the human heart and at the same time staffs his foreign office with Nazis. Will their hearts change?

Clemenceau said, "The Germans are either at your feet or at your throat." We have had them at our feet twice and each time have let them up and handed them a gun. How dumb can you get?

Your full page ad has for identification—"This page has been contributed as a National Service by a group of Patriotic Citizens."

Who are those Patriotic Citizens? Of what country? Mosley? Hoffa? Franco? Whoever they are they should be out in the open. Stand up and take a bow. This modesty is unbecoming not to say suspicious.

Let us see where this handwagon is going and who is driving. This campaign runs into really big money. The voice is the voice of Elmer Gantry but the hand is the hand of X. Let us have a look at X.

'We Can Achieve Progress Without Inviting Foreign Domination of Our National Life'

The following article, of vital importance to Canadians, is an excerpt from the annual report of the Bank of Canada, tabled in the Commons this week by Governor James E. Coyne.

THERE are no doubt various special measures, whether financial or other, which governments can take to reduce the various disabilities and difficulties of small business and to mitigate the handicaps of Canadian enterprises in competing against foreign enterprises which operate through subsidiaries in Canada or send their goods into Canada, and similarly to relieve the particular problems of production and development and employment in specific industries and particular parts of the country and in the winter season.

The necessity for pin-pointing action to deal with these problems in good times as well as in recessions has tended to be overlooked, and the possible value of general measures such as monetary expansion and deficit spending have been seriously exaggerated in the public mind.

General measures such as monetary expansion and deficit spending if undertaken at the wrong time can undoubtedly stimulate inflation. They can do very little to cure unemployment not due to any deficiency of total demand in Canada, or to improve the competitive position of small business and Canadian-owned enterprises.

Particular Problem

Indeed, when general economic activity is relatively high, even though there may be serious particular problems of the kind indicated, general measures of monetary expansion and deficit spending may contribute more to an increase of imports, and therefore to an increase in production and employment outside Canada, than to an increase in production and employment inside Canada.

A reduction in spending, an increase in saving, restraint in foreign borrowing, and the encouragement of structural changes in the Canadian economy to replace imports with efficient domestic production would do much more to deal with the specific problems concerned, than general expansionist measures of a monetary or fiscal character.

For some years, as I see it, the Canadian economy has been under the influence of excessive overall spending, which even in periods of relatively high unemployment resulted in a net inflow of imports from other countries. Attempts to induce growth for a short time at rates which in the aggregate cannot be expected to continue, bring set-backs and unemployment in their train.

Excessive Demand

Such conditions of excessive demand create inflationary pressures which distort the structure of the economy and handicap the development of the more stable economic sectors.

The attempt to accomplish too much too fast has given rise to huge deficits in our international balance of payments on current account, i.e. a very large excess of imports of goods and services over exports of goods and services, to a large and growing volume of foreign debt incurred by Canadian governments and businesses which do not have foreign operations to support that debt, and has gone hand-in-hand with a growing degree of foreign predominance in Canadian business.

Three years ago when reviewing the development of the very large balance-of-payments deficit of 1956 I remarked that "An import surplus of balance-of-payments deficit of the present size is the product and symptom of an excessive rate of spending in the economy, not just of a reasonable rate of real growth. It would be disturbing to think of an import surplus of such magnitude continuing for an indefinite period."

JAMES E. COYNE

At that time I expressed the belief that total spending of all kinds was at least $1 billion greater than would have been desirable from the point of view of general stability and sound economic growth.

Three more years have gone by in which we have had very large balance-of-payments deficits, and we are now launched on another year with the prospective excess of total spending over production being greater than ever, presumably to be matched by an equivalent excess of imports which will have to be financed by foreign resources in one form or another.

The cumulative effect of all these

A Delightful Week

I AM sitting up in bed and writing on my knee at considerably after midnight. I always try not to write as late (for me) as this, but tonight the choice lay between staying home to write a column or, unexpectedly, going to town to hear Joyce Grenfell. Naturally, I chose Joyce Grenfell.

Ruth

I'm still under her spell. For an evening of Joyce Grenfell is my idea of delightful entertainment. I enjoyed all her sketches, tonight. I enjoyed them for her wit, her powers of observation, and her kindly humor. Above all, I liked her instinct for what is funny and what is not.

To me, it would have been unbearable if she had presented the mother at the boat train as a comic figure. Of if she had overdone the pathos. As it was, she almost made me cry.

Nor could I have borne it had she mocked the gentle lady who had three brothers, James and Robert and Harold, for whom, as a girl, she fetched and carried like a slave, and, years later, did the same for their daughters when they came to England and stayed with their aunt at the old family home.

Those of us who know England have met such devoted women who worked selflessly as this one did and found that "such a life was sweet." There have been thousands upon thousands of them, and, though they were never as clever or as gifted as the boys, their unselfish goodness is, in my opinion, a splendid part of the British heritage.

Tonight, because of this sketch by Joyce Grenfell, I have thought with affection of a Juliet, a Maude, a Doreen, and a Joan I knew in years gone by. Joyce Grenfell caught them all on the stage tonight.

And, in her sketch of the young admirer and the famous novelist, she caught me as I was about 35 years ago. I laughed myself weak over the wild athletic gestures, the utter lack of grace, the embarrassed "Oh, do shut up!" when the girl was paid an unexpected compliment. And the line about phoning Mummy was the payoff. I was exactly like that for years!

In fact, the wonder to me is how some of us ever got married at all. For we had been conditioned by years of bracing boarding school where we were taught to play a hearty game of hockey, and not to think about men and all that silly rather dubious stuff. Then, when our parents had paid hundreds of pounds to have us more or less de-sexed, we were decanted from the Sixth Form and, in many cases, our parents didn't know what to do with us. (For, after all, we weren't quite ready for marriage, were we? And, actually, we hadn't been trained for anything in particular.)

Some girls, of course, were sent to finishing school on the Continent, where their parents paid heavily again to have them taught to take an interest in clothes, to walk gracefully, to speak a feeble French and to be attractive to men.

No wonder some of them ended up a bit confused by such contradictory training. Nowadays, I suppose, they'd have been called "crazy mixed-up kids."

Enough of this, however, since it has little to do with Joyce Grenfell.

But I wish that we could have more humor of the kind to be found in Jacques Tati's film, "Mon Oncle," which is being shown in Victoria on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Joyce Grenfell and "Mon Oncle" in a single week.

How unexpected and how utterly delightful.

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

One reason why I have never been able to take much stock in present-day weird theories to the effect that the mental disturbances seen in adults were produced in childhood by unfortunate sexual experiences is that, in hundreds of such cases, when I have talked with the mother of a mentally disturbed patient, she has maintained that, from the first days or months of the person's life, he was decidedly different from her other children.

Alvarez

She may say, "He cried angrily," "he was impatient," or "he had a temper," or "he slept poorly and kept us up half of each night," or "he was a sad baby, while my other children were happy babies," or "he was slow, unobservant baby, while my others soon were wide-awake and trying always to look around," or "he was a timid baby, always getting much frightened at something," or "he was a solitary and unaffectionate child—he would never let me kiss him or show my love for him and as he grew older, I worried because he made no friends."

Some people refuse to listen to such statements or to believe them; they prefer to read Freud, but I am sure that thousands of the women who will read this column will say, "That is absolutely right; from the day my Joe was born, he was very different from his three brothers; later he was not a normal, smiling and cooing baby, and every day I wondered about it. For years I saw a nervous breakdown coming, and wished I could find some doctor who could tell me what to do to help matters."

The other day I was talking to a very intelligent woman about the big differences in temperament between her (unlike) twin boys. One is an impatient lad who drives hard at everything he does, while the other is easy-going and good-tempered. The mother assures me that they were that way at birth, when she howled angrily if not given his bottle the minute he wanted it, and the other lay patiently and quietly until he was fed!

I was reminded of all this just now as I read that the First International Medical Conference on Mental Retardation, held in Portland, Maine, Dr. Samuel Karelitz played a series of tape recordings of the crying of recently-born infants which showed that the mothers were perfectly right when they said that, from birth, their baby, who was later found to have some brain disturbance, cried in a peculiar way.

Dr. Karelitz showed, also, that if one stimulates (perhaps pinches) a normal infant, he will cry almost immediately, while if one similarly stimulates a baby of the same age whose brain, at birth, was not built right, it may be seconds before he gets around to crying; and then his crying may be "interrupted and erratic." As Dr. Karelitz said, using this and other techniques, experts can now often say that a particular new-born baby has some brain damage.

I wish every mother of a mentally-retarded or mildly epileptic, or schizophrenic child could know these facts, and have them read when, one day, some psychiatrist or psychiatric visiting-nurse tries to break her heart by accusing her of having deliberately injured the child's mind by having loved him too much, or by once in his infancy having permitted him to see her naked. I, who receive many heart-broken letters from parents who have been abused in this way, know how terribly they suffer from these accusations, which many psychiatrists regard as quite unwarranted, and probably very stupid.

Quite a few people who have had their spleen removed write me to ask if they are likely to miss it in some way. They are afraid they will come to grief because it was taken from them. Usually it is removed to cure a certain type of anemia. The spleen has to do with removing from the blood old and worn out, red blood cells. Sometimes it gets to destroying these cells a bit too actively, and this may produce an anemia which can be cured by a splenectomy.

We don't know as much about the functions of the spleen as we would like to. When I was a medical student there was a classic story about a professor who asked a student what were the functions of the spleen. The young man hemmed and hawed, and said, "I'm sorry, professor, I knew that yesterday, but I've forgotten it." And the professor said to the class, "What a tragedy; here is the only man in the world who ever knew the functions of the spleen, and he's gone and forgotten them!"

'Black Interfered' In Election Procedure

The charge that Provincial Secretary W. D. Black has written Social Credit party officials throughout British Columbia asking them to name voters' list enumerators was hurled by the CCF in the Legislature Wednesday.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said he could bring witnesses to the bar of the House to prove some enumerators in Victoria "are going door to door, making personal attacks on the Leader of the Opposition."

Mr. Black was asked whether he had written to persons other than government agents or Unemployment Insurance Commission officials asking for names of possible enumerators. He answered "Yes".

KEPT SILENT
He kept silent during most of the debate that followed, making no denials to most of the charges.

Gordon Dowling (CCF, Burnaby) said there were grave political implications. The most grave being that the provincial secretary in writing letters had interfered with the impartial discharge of duties of civil servants involved in election procedure.

Mr. Strachan wanted to know how the minister arrived at the names of people to whom he had written.

"Did you write to anyone in my riding?" asked both Tony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie) and Gordon Dowling (CCF, Burnaby).

"I presume so," replied Mr. Black.

"Did anyone in Victoria get one (a letter) besides Skillings?" asked George Gregory (Lib., Victoria). The reference was to Waldo Skillings, friend and travelling companion of the Premier.

Mr. Strachan said in view of the winter works program of the province, "It seems odd to send letters to individuals not of the government. Wouldn't it have been better to do it through the registrars of voters or the Unemployment Insurance Commission?" Why was this not done, he asked.

Mr. Black said in many cases registrars' advice was asked and taken and in some constituencies they were advised to go to the UIC for enumerators.

Mr. Strachan wanted to know where this occurred. Mr. Black thought it had been done this way in Mr. Strachan's riding.

"Playing it safe, eh?" said Mr. Strachan.

$6 A DAY

Mr. Strachan wanted to know how the enumerators were picked in Skeena and Victoria. Mr. Black said the department was getting a lot of help from labor unions.

"Labor and the CCF seem to be doing an enumeration on their own."

He said the paid enumerators get $6 a day in pay plus 15 to 25 cents per new name.

Mr. Black said he could not name the enumerators, but "I know one in Prince George is a former CCF candidate."

"What we're concerned with is enumeration... get people on the list," said Mr. Black. He said appointment of deputy returning officers and poll clerks was up to chief electoral officer for B.C., Fred Hurley.

THREE WOMEN

Mr. Strachan gave the names of three women who are enumerating in Skeena constituency, none of whom was registered with the UIC as jobless. He said 252 men and women were on the UIC jobless list at the time.

He named the husband of one of the women as the man who had submitted their names for the post.

"Isn't that right, Mr. Minister?" Mr. Black said nothing.

Mr. Strachan said he could prove all his charges. He called on the minister to have a "fair and unbiased election."

Hugh Shirreff (SC, Skeena) felt the mention of his riding was a reflection on himself. He said he was the one who had suggested a new enumeration in Kitimat. He said he may have mentioned some names when in discussion with the government agent, but "I had nothing to do with it."

Mr. Black promised to provide lists of enumerators to some CCF members "as soon as I find out."

Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaskaslokan) claimed in the last election, CCF and Liberal enumerators did the work, and didn't leave a single eligible voter off the list.

"I'd rather sign 100 Social Credit voters and lose by 100 votes than be here in Victoria and think I hadn't played the game of democracy," said Mr. Harding.

Tony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie) said he knew that Social officials in his riding had been asked to name enumerators.

Tom Uphill (Labor, Fernie) said the last election "was one of the crookedest elections in history." He said many Fernie residents including five members of his family were at the coast and voted absentee "and not an absentee vote was sent to Fernie — or if they were, they were disposed of."

The person responsible "should have been put in the hoosegow," said Mr. Uphill.

MID-EAST TENSION EASES AS ARAB TROOPS LEAVE

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Highly-placed Israeli sources reported today that United Arab Republic troop concentrations were being withdrawn from the Sinai Peninsula.

Tension along the UAR border with Israel seems to have eased, the sources said.

MINERS, ELECTRICIANS STATE VIEWS

Let Railways Go Own Way

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's mining and electrical industries rallied behind the railways Wednesday and urged that rail transportation be given more freedom to solve its own internal problems in the most effective way.

In a brief to the royal commission on transportation, the Canadian Metal Mining Association recommended railway companies be permitted to abandon obsolete lines, eliminate losses on passenger traffic and abolish other uneconomic practices.

The brief suggested the rail companies be encouraged to broaden their interests and engage in truck, boat, pipeline and airline ventures.

The miners brief was one of the last submissions to commission during its three-day Toronto hearing. Hearings in Quebec City open today.

Furious Vocal Chorus on 'Life' As Times Sparks Patronage Row

An article in the Victoria Daily Times of March 2 sparked an angry debate in the legislature Wednesday night as CCF and government members battled over the government's methods of awarding group insurance contracts.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner complained that CCF leader Robert Strachan, as quoted in this article, had implied "patronage" in the awarding of group insurance contracts for civil servants.

Mr. Bonner specifically objected to Mr. Strachan's reference to life insurance for employees of the Liquor Control Board.

"The board comes under my department," Mr. Bonner said, "and the proper time and place to raise this matter was when my estimates were before this House."

"I take great exception to this article in the Times and the way the leader of the opposition has used it to make these allegations."

'Tell Him Shut Up'

Temper flared when Mr. Strachan told Mr. Bonner to go back and read the article. While Mr. Strachan was speaking, the attorney-general produced the Times article and began reading it to the House.

Mr. Strachan contended he held the floor and, when challenged by Mr. Bonner, asked deputy chairman Frank Richter (SC-Similkameen) to tell Mr. Bonner to "shut up."

This led to a shouting match with four or five members arguing simultaneously about House procedure while deputy chairman Richter vainly pounded the desk with his gavel.

Calm Restored

Above the din Mr. Strachan could be heard complaining of the attorney-general's "bad temper" and Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo Slocan) shouted to the government:

"You are like a bunch of chorus girls." When calm had been restored, Mr. Bonner sent the Times across the floor to Mr. Strachan, who then read the article through.

said he had received information that the new civil service group insurance policy—involving $40,000,000 coverage and annual premiums ranging from $375,000 to $500,000—would be awarded to Great West Life Assurance Co. and possibly two other firms.

The premier's friend and travelling companion, Waldo Skilling, is an agent for Great West in Victoria, the article stated.

These allegations were denied in the House by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, who read a letter from Marsh and McLennan, a Vancouver actuarial firm which was consulted by the government in formulating the insurance scheme.

This letter stated that the allegations were "completely erroneous." It said the Great West Life Assurance Co. had "no part" of the group insurance scheme for the Liquor Control Board of the B.C. Power Commission.

The letter added that the Sun Life Insurance Co. of Canada had underwritten 75 per cent of the Liquor Control Board insurance while Canada Life Assurance Co. had underwritten 25 per cent.

The Sun Life Company had underwritten the entire coverage for the B.C. Power Commission.

Mr. Black then tabled correspondence referring to the group insurance for government employees.

24 Bidders

It stated that Dr. J. V. Fisher, co-ordinator of provincial finances; Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace; Dr. H. N. Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission; and W. H. Forrest, superannuation commissioner, were appointed a committee in 1959 to investigate such insurance.

Marsh and McLennan Ltd. was again engaged as consultants and agent of the government.

Twenty-four insurance companies had submitted tenders or expressed their intention to do so.

The correspondence said that William Mercer, mentioned in the Times article, was not involved in any way with the present considerations of life insurance.

It said Mr. Mercer had been confused with the company which bore his name—William Mercer Ltd., an affiliate of Marsh and McLennan Ltd.

against the Castro regime by cutting Cuba's sugar quotas could set off a wave of confiscation of U.S. property in Cuba.

Eisenhower told a press conference he thought Cubans had no justification whatsoever for regarding his plan as a reprisal against the Castro government's anti-American policies.

The president has the responsibility of making sure the U.S. gets the sugar it needs, he said, and if one supplying area should fall down, he should have the authority to go elsewhere.

The U.S. gets about one-third of its 9,400,000-ton sugar quota from Cuba at a bonus price of two or three cents a pound above the world market price.

Sugar Quota Proposal Faces Congress Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen predicted a long delay Wednesday in meeting President Eisenhower's request for authority to reduce or raise foreign sugar quotas, including Cuba's.

Chairman of the House agriculture committee, Harold Cooley, said he saw little chance of approval of the new program.

It would authorize the president to revise any foreign country's quota, except that of the Philippines, if he found such action in the national interest.

Cooley objected strongly to interjecting diplomatic relations into a farm program. He was afraid any retaliation

FAUBUS SEEKS FOURTH TERM AS GOVERNOR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Orval Faubus announced today he will seek an unprecedented fourth term as governor of Arkansas.

Faubus, who defied the federal government in Little Rock's school integration crisis of 1957, vowed to continue his stand against "the usurpation of the people's rights."

Faubus won a third two-year term in 1958 by a landslide.

Destructive Gales Batter U.S. Areas

CHICAGO (AP)—Devastating storms, in one of winter's most vicious attacks, staggered the midwest, southern and eastern United States today.

Sections of the Midwest and South were buried under the heaviest snow of the season just three days before the official arrival of spring. The storm moved northeast Wednesday night, with heavy snow indicated in some areas. Part of it swept through Southern Ontario.

A second storm over the North Carolina coast dumped snow, sleet and rain northward along the Atlantic coast.

In central Florida, torrential rains forced hundreds of persons from their flooded homes and washed out crops and roads. One drowning was reported.

FINANCE PROTEST

VANCOUVER — Mayor Tom Alsbury of Vancouver said Wednesday he is considering asking council to reject the 1960 school board budget as a protest against the provincial government's education financing policy.

The city's school budget totals $27,500,000, an increase of more than $3,000,000 over last year.

The mayor said he was considering asking for arbitration on the budget.

"I'm not blaming the board ... I feel it is doing the best it can," he said. "But I feel taxpayers are being asked to carry too much of the burden of school costs."

Cash Surplus Shown Again As Jubilee Plans New Wing

Royal Jubilee Hospital wound up its 101st year of service in 1959 with its second consecutive surplus.

Annual meeting of directors Wednesday night revealed a surplus of $15,041 was left after operating expenses of $3,268,380 were paid during the year.

But it was the first time in eight years that the annual report itself was written in the black. In 1958, the annual report showed a deficit but between the time it was printed and the annual meeting, a government grant of $15,000 enabled the chairman to announce a surplus.

"This is indeed an item of great satisfaction to your board of directors," said J. Courtney Haddock in the president's report.

NEW WING BIG JOB

He pointed out that the saving was made despite record increases in services and $90,000 spent on new equipment and replacement of outworn gear.

He identified this year's major task as "the start of construction of our new wing to provide those additional beds and other services that are so necessary to the welfare of the community."

Figures illustrating the growth of hospital in 1959, with 1954 comparisons in brackets, are:

Admissions, 12,230 (10,254); newborn, 1,898 (1,524); outpatient treatments, 27,978 (15,208); operations, 6,391 (4,963); emergency treatments, 16,789 (9,250); meals served, 621,710 (545,350); pounds of laundry, 1,682,904 (1,411,664); and pints of blood used, 3,176 (2,088).

Four directors were elected to represent the hospital's 6,000 subscribers: J. C. Thow, G. H. Stevens, J. L. Hobbs and Mrs. W. A. Trenholme.

Appointed to the board by provincial and civic governments were: Mr. Haddock and Ian M. Horne, provincial government; F. G. Mulliner and Lloyd G. McKenzie, Victoria; J. W. Casey, Saanich; Reeve A. C. Wurtel, Esquimalt, and R. B. Wilson, Oak Bay.

ANGLERS CAN RELAX— LICENCE PLAN REJECTED

Licensing of salt-water sports is not expected to become law in the foreseeable future, Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood said Wednesday.

The minister made the statement following a meeting between officials of his branch and federal authorities. Earlier the proposal was hinted as possible new federal legislation.

The minister said the new discussions, however, may lead to investigation of complaints by commercial fishermen that sports fishermen are reducing the commercial salmon catches. A joint committee may be set up to undertake the study.

"There is no question whatsoever of imposing a licence to participate in sport fishing in the foreseeable future," the minister said.

THE SCOREBOARD

TAMPA, Fla.—Vada Pinson has become an on-and-off ballplayer after his first full season in the major leagues.

They talk of the Reds' centre fielder at every National League camp. At Al Lopez Field, where the Cincinnati club trains, out by the Tampa International Airport, players stop what they are doing to watch him at bat, on the bases, in the field.

"He's the greatest player in the game today," said Fred Hutchinson, just like that, as Pinson belted a fast ball tree top high over the right field wall. "And remember that I'm talking about a 21-year-old boy just getting a flying start."

I told Hutchinson, the burly manager, what Clem Labine had said about Pinson at Vero Beach. We were discussing the paucity of standout youngsters, when the Dodgers' veteran relief worker said, "What's wrong with Pinson? The day he becomes aggressive he will be better than Willie Mays."

I expressed doubt that Pinson had anything approaching Mays' power.

"You don't think so, eh?" said Labine. "Well, I saw him hit the top of the wire fence in right centre field of the Los Angeles Coliseum, and the sign says that's 420 feet. The kid's tremendous doing everything. And with only one season of big league ball behind him."

By way of drawing Pinson out, I asked him what Labine meant by his lacking aggressiveness last season.

"I wasn't daring enough on the bases, didn't take chances," he said.

"That will come with experience," cut in Brooks Lawrence, the earnest and erudite fire-fighter of the Reds' bullpen. "Vada has the urge. He stole 53 bases one year in the minors. He stole 21 for us last season. But he's just come around here. He's a fine baserunner now, but to take full advantage of his prairie-wind speed he's got to learn more about the pitchers and a lot of things."

"When he does, he'll drive pitchers daffy, for he's the fastest man in baseball, incredibly swift. It's totally unfair to compare this boy with a seasoned performer as accomplished as Willie Mays now, but I'll tell you one thing—he's farther advanced than Mays was at the same stage."

Like Frankie Robinson, the first baseman-outfielder whom he followed out of McElmyns High School in Oakland, Calif., Pinson gets bigger as he goes up. Now standing 5-11 and weighing 176 pounds, he is a heavyweight above the waist.

"Take a gander at that quick, compact swing," said Hutchinson. "And he's so adaptable. He hits the ball as far as anybody and bunts and drags so well they couldn't shoot him out. He has a quick and accurate arm."

"When Bobby Mattick signed Vada fresh out of high school," recalled general manager Gabe Paul, getting in on everybody's favorite subject, "he was a 135-pound pitcher-first baseman. When we sent him to Wausau of the Northern League, Johnny Streza, the manager, said, 'Look what they sent me now!'"

Bruce Edwards, the old catcher, succeeded Streza and played Pinson, then 18, in right field because another first baseman couldn't be employed anywhere else.

Pinson, one of the nicest lads ever to wear a baseball uniform, quickly fulfilled the great expectations Birdie Tebbets had for him two springs ago when Birdie managed the Reds.

Vada stirred up excitement in every one of the Reds' 154 outings last season. He led the majors in doubles (47) and runs scored (131). He topped the club in batting (.316) and hits (305), total bases (330), triples (9), stolen bases (21).

Batting second behind Johnny Temple, Pinson had 20 home runs and drove in 84 runs. Pinson is left-handed all the way, but will never be platooned for the very sound reason that he assaults left-hand pitchers with even more vigor than he picks on right-handers. The only difference is that he hits line drives off southpaws and pulls for magnificent distance against right-handers.

Fred Hutchinson has Gordon Coleman, the large first baseman obtained from Cleveland in the Johnny Temple deal, and a lot of other guys on his mind at the moment, but can't take his sharp eyes off Vada Pinson.

This kind fascinates baseball managers.

New Sports Picture For Television Fans

NEW YORK (UPI)—The TV menu for America's sports fans will be the same but the time and the channel will be different.

That sums up the new TV sports picture produced Wednesday when the American Broadcasting Company announced an $8,500,000 deal involving the regular weekend fights, major league baseball and college football.

The new arrangement means:

1. Boxing fans will see their "regular" weekend fight telecasts over ABC on Saturday nights instead of over NBC on Friday nights. The first of the ABC Saturday night fights will be televised on Oct. 8.

2. ABC will present major league baseball "live" on Saturdays, beginning April 16, the series will run for 25 weeks with games originating from various big league cities including San Francisco and Los Angeles.

3. The entire college football program, involving 12 Saturdays and Thanksgiving Day, will be seen on ABC, Sept. 17 through Dec. 3.

NBC, however, will continue to televise baseball's world series and all-star games at least through 1966 under an agreement announced Feb. 24.

The Gillieff Safety Razor Co., sponsor of all the telecasts, worked out the new arrangement primarily because NBC felt that boxing "had fallen into ill repute."

"Obviously, we don't share that opinion," said Craig Smith, vice-president of Gillieff in charge of program planning. "We feel that when properly administered and supervised, boxing is a tremendous sport. And audiences are always ready to receive a good match."

ABC officials said they had yet to make a decision on the Wednesday night fight telecasts which they now carry on Friday nights. They predicted they would be dropped, when the current contract expires ball program, involving 12 Sat-

Battle Decided On Final Round

Saskatchewan In Showdown With Alberta

The Eaton's Trophy was ready to go to the engravers for the eighth and last time and the new western Canada women's curling champions looked forward to winning the first all-Canadian title.

That was the story as Saskatchewan and Alberta rinks met this morning in their showdown battle for the western title.

The next trip will be to Oshawa, Ont., where the western queens meet an eastern rink in a special playoff for the Dominion title later this month.

McKEE FAVORED

Joyce McKee's foursome from Saskatoon, favored to bring Saskatchewan its second championship in the eight-year history of the event, and Dorothy Thompson's Alberta champions from Edmonton headed into this morning's round with identical 4-1 won-lost records.

Both went into the final round after comparatively easy victories Wednesday night at the Victoria Curling Club.

The Saskatchewan foursome, showing exceptional polish from skip to lead, broke a 3-3 tie on the sixth end with a double and went on to roll over winless British Columbia, 12-5. It was the McKee rink's fourth straight victory after a tough 8-7 loss to Manitoba on the opening round of the double round-robin event.

Mrs. Thompson kept pace with a 16-8 decision over Isabelle Ketchen's defending champions from Flin Flon, Man.

She used a big six-end on the 11th to put away the victory. One end earlier the Manitoba foursome missed a good opportunity to score five and erase a three-point deficit. But Mrs. Ketchen was narrow as her attempted double take-out and had to settle for a single that cut Alberta's lead to 10-8.

Earlier in the day, Miss McKee and mates handed Manitoba its second loss, 9-8, while Mrs. Thompson tripped B.C. 7-1-5. Saskatchewan, after building up a healthy 9-5 lead after nine ends, had to call on Miss McKee for a last-rock takeout in order to preserve its edge over the Flin Flon foursome.

POP SHOWS UP

B.C.'s representatives still found it hard to get untracked Wednesday. Even the appearance of their "lucky charm," Albert (Pop) Routh couldn't help their cause.

"Pop" Routh, 83, followed the girls all through the Coast zone playoffs and the B.C. championships at Vernon. Father of lead Dianna Lawrence, he has never thrown a rock in his life but is still an ardent devotee of the curling game.

After they lost their first three games, the business girls from Vancouver's Pacific Club decided to call on "Pop." He took his first airplane ride Tuesday night to make sure he was on hand for Wednesday's two draws.

And nobody was more disappointed than "Pop" when his girls failed to spring an upset.

Plans for a trip to Mount Baker April 30-May 1 by the Sno-Birds are now firm. The group will leave Patricia Bay airport at 7:30 a.m. April 30 and fly to Abbotsford where they will take a bus to Mount Baker. They will return at 8:45 p.m. May 1.

Cost will be $16 with sleeping bag or $17 for a bed.

Ike Gets Nod In Tough Bout

CLEVELAND (AP)—Veteran Ike Chesnut shook off a seventh-round knockdown Wednesday night to win a unanimous decision in a rousing 10-round fight over hard-punching Leroy (Honey Boy) Jeffery of Detroit. Each weighed 130.

The bout was a substitute for the scheduled 10-rounder between heavyweight Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., and Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N.Y. The scheduled scrap was cancelled because of a knee injury suffered by DeJohn.

BELL SCORES THREE

Comets Clout Confident Cats

Comets 6, Cougars 3

By DOUG PEDEN

Confidence is like medicine. It's great stuff when used in prescribed portions, but overdoses can be dangerous.

Victoria Cougars, who could be pardoned for absorbing an overload of confidence while they were drubbing the Comets 9-2 at Spokane Tuesday, were apparently suffering Wednesday night from the effects of their Western Hockey League goal spree.

Taking on the Comets in a return bout before 2,233 "Ladies' Night" fans the Cats appeared unable to buckle down to serious business in the first two periods.

By that time it was too late. The carefree Comets were coasting along with a 3-2 lead and although they were outshot by an 11-4 margin in the final 20 minutes, the last-place Spokes divided a pair of goals and finished up with a 6-3 decision—their 19th win of the season.

Defeat may have wrecked Victoria's chances of a third-place finish, leaving them deadlocked in the No. 3 spot with Edmonton Flyers, who pulled even by knocking off Calgary Stampede 4-3. Each club has one game remaining on its league schedule, but if they wind up with an equal number of points, third place will go to the Flyers because of a better goal-scoring record.

Bell Gets First Pro 'Hat Trick'

Flyers host Winnipeg in their last game while the Cats complete their pre-playoff chores against Seattle Totems at Memorial Arena, Saturday night.

Swinging the biggest axe for the Comets, Wednesday, was Bev Bell, a chunky little speed expert who has never quite hit the scoring heights predicted for him in professional hockey. Tabbed a standout prospect when he completed his amateur career with Regina Pats five years ago with a blazing second-place finish in the Saskatchewan junior loop scoring derby, Bell hit 20 goals only once in his first four professional seasons, collecting 21 with Spokane last winter.

But the five-eight 170-pounder acted like one of the best in the WHL Wednesday and gave the Cats nothing but trouble as he chalked up the first "hat trick" of his pro career. Bell's three goals provided Comets with the margin of victory and gave him a total of 20 for the current season.

Francis Brilliant in Comet Nets

Bev made it a five-point evening by picking up assists on two goals scored by linemate Del Topoli. Ed Stankiewicz got credit for the other Spokane tally when his intended pass from behind the Victoria net deflected into the goal off a Cougar defenceman.

Paul Masnick, defenceman Jack Bionda and Gordie Hawthorn accounted for the Victoria goals.

Although Cougars held an edge in play all the way, their defence was in constant trouble during the first two pe-cel Pelletier.

Flyers Step Up To Share Third

EDMONTON—A third-period brawl took the play away from the goal-getters but not from the fact that Edmonton Flyers are still very much in the running for a third-place Western Hockey League finish.

Flyers pulled even with Victoria Cougars, at least temporarily, by tripping Calgary Stampede 4-3 before a Wednesday night turnout of 4,117 fans.

Flyers and Cougars each have one game left to play. Should they finish the season in a deadlock, third place will go to Edmonton on strength of a better goal record.

SWINGING FISTS

Wednesday's spotlight in the game went on in the third period when Calgary's Norm Johnson and Edmonton's Lou Maroon engaged in a free-swinging battle that netted the pair 16 penalty minutes.

Maroon was assessed a roughing and a fighting penalty while Johnson picked up high-sticking, roughing and fighting penalties. At the height of the brawl every player on both teams was on the ice either watching or trying to separate the combatants.

FIGHT RESULTS

CLEVELAND—Tex Chisum, 130, New York, outpointed Leroy (Honey Boy) Jeffery, 130, Detroit, 16.
MANILA—Pete Enos, 130, Manila, knocked out Harold Gomez, 128 1/2, Providence, P.I., 10.

Tee Topics

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It's not the kind of publicity the post office likes to hear, but Victoria golfers just don't trust the mails. At least, 71 don't.

That's how many entry forms for the Times' Vancouver Island Open tournament were delivered in person. Gorge Vale's Leo Derman, who so kindly consents to act as tournament secretary every year, marked down 71 entries by time the postman got around to knocking. Since up-island golfers have a longer distance to travel, and most don't care for the personal-type mailing, a number of berths are being reserved for the Duncan, Nanaimo and other up-island swingers.

Up-island golfers, however, should make every effort to see that their entries reach Derman by the weekend. The draw is expected to be made early next week.

Qualifying round for the tournament is March 27 at Royal Colwood.

Laurie Kerr, who took an unofficial "vacation" from golf for the better part of last year while he helped build himself a new home, appears to be showing some of his old-time form again.

The Colwood golfer brought the second of the winter medals to his club last weekend when he scored a 71 at Uplands. That gave him the spring series with a three-round aggregate of 218.

Clubmate Bill McColl, winner of the fall medal, finished five strokes behind with 223, and Dr. Roger Ross, also of Colwood, took third with 225. Both Ross and McColl scored 74s Sunday.

Runnerup to Kerr in the low gross Sunday was Oak Bay pro Laurie Carroll with 73. Bob Woods, 73-4-69, and V. Lea, 75-6-69, shared low net honors.

SHORT CHIPS: Harold Hubbard, with a net 66, edged Bill Newcombe by one stroke for Victoria Club's monthly medal honors last weekend. Ted Seaford, Alex Alexander and Doug Abbott tied for third with net 68s. Uplands members are considering an addition of 100 by 250 feet to the easterly end of their present practice fairway between the eighth and 10th holes. The proposed extension would enable a greater number of golfers to practice at one time, providing all balls were marked.

Deadlocks featured the Clark Trophy competition at Gorge Vale last weekend. F. Worsley and R. Wakelin captured the cup following a play-off with Tom Fallon and Gerry Groome. Each team had a net 67. Bert Saxon and George Murphy and A. Robertson and C. Reichert each posted gross 74s to tie for low gross. Challoner-Mitchell foursome play starts at Oak Bay this weekend.

The four-day open tournament played in four Okanagan cities in 1958 as a centennial project will be staged again this year and may become an annual fixture. A report from the Interior says the tournament will be a $3,000-added affair with 18-hole medal rounds at Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton and Kelowna.

Banff Olympic Bid
CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Olympic Development Association estimated Tuesday a capital expenditure of $4,000,000 would be required to prepare Banff for the 1968 Winter Olympics. The association plans in 1963 to apply for the 1968 Olympics for the Rocky Mountain resort town.

SQUEEZE PLAY

Muscular Ted Kluszewski, Chicago White Sox first baseman, playfully tests biceps of second-baseman Nellie Fox during break in spring training sessions. However, Chisox couldn't muster enough muscle Wednesday and went down to 4-2 exhibition defeat at hands of Milwaukee Braves.

Charlie Is Happier As Old Pros Shine

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Charlie Dessen feels a lot younger today thanks to old pros Warren Spahn and Red Schoendienst.

In fact, the 61-year-old manager of the Milwaukee Braves could have danced an Irish jig after the roles played by Spahn and Schoendienst in Wednesday's 4-2 victory over the American League champion Chicago White Sox.

Spahn, 38, pitched five shut-out innings and allowed the White Sox only three hits in his first competitive appearance of the spring while Schoendienst, making his first start since stricken by tuberculosis after the 1958 season, played errorless ball at second base and drove in a run with a fifth-inning single.

FIRST SOX LOSS

Less than a week ago Dessen was blasting the Braves as a team "that hadn't learned much under two previous managers," but he was bubbling with enthusiasm after watching the Braves hand the White Sox their first loss after four victories in the grapefruit league.

"Those are the kind of performances that make a team look like a world champion," said Dessen. "There's nothing like a couple of old pros to make you look good." Spahn, a 20-game winner 10 times, wants strong spring showings to persuade Dessen that he should work on a regular once-every-fourth day rotation again this year. Schoendienst, of course, is bidding to make one of baseball's most dramatic comebacks in competition with a squad of lean and hungry kids fighting to win his second base job.

POPULAR TOM FOLEY DIES IN TRAFFIC CRASH

TORONTO (CP)—Sports commentator Tom Foley, 38, manager of Ottawa radio station CFRA, was killed at Toronto early today in a traffic accident.

Foley was one of four persons admitted to hospital after an airport limousine was in collision with an automobile on Lakeshore Boulevard during a snow storm. He died soon after he was admitted. The condition of the others was not known.

A popular radio sports commentator and former sports editor of the Lethbridge Herald, Foley also handled the between-periods commentary on CBC English-language network broadcasts of National Hockey League games in Montreal.

Evcoes Get Back To League Duties

Taking a break from their Province Cup quest, Evcoes will return to Victoria and District Football League play Saturday.

The league leaders take on fourth-ranked Gorge Hotel at Royal Athletic Park with a game in hand and a two-point lead over second-place Ladysmith United.

Evcoes will return to cup play March 26 for their semi-final match in Victoria against the winner of the Firefighters-Caplanos quarter-final game at Vancouver Saturday.

Ladysmith may have a chance to catch the front-runners Sunday by beating Canadian Scottish, who are in third spot, three points back. The game will be played at Ladysmith.

In other games Sunday, Victoria West meet Heaneys at Central, Brodies take on Kickers at Heywood Avenue, and Esquimalt plays Thistles at Reynolds Road Park. All games start at 2 p.m.

New Warriors

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg Warriors will dress three forwards from the University of North Dakota for their Western Hockey League final home game tonight against Calgary Stampeders.

The threesome, Reg Morelli of Hamilton, Art Miller of Moose Jaw and Ed Thominson of St. Catharines, will all graduate this year and will probably attend Warriors' training camp next fall.

Warriors will continue to use Manitoba juniors Ernie Wakely in goal and Ken Stephanson on defence.

Wings Start Worrying As Bruins Come to Life

There are still signs of life in those of Bruins.

So Boston and Detroit Red Wings will go down to the wire in the fight for the National Hockey League's last playoff berth.

Bruins, refusing to be counted out, came up with two third-period goals Wednesday night to defeat New York Rangers 3-2. Boston's third straight victory moved the Bruins to within two points of fourth-place Detroit, with each team having two games to play.

TOUGH WEEKEND

The Bruins face a rough weekend—they play in Montreal Saturday and are at home to Chicago Black Hawks Sunday—but they go into it playing their best hockey since the early weeks of the campaign. Detroit has two home games, the Rangers visiting Saturday and the Leafs Sunday.

Rangers, with goalie Jack McCartan starting in the last game of his four-game trial, held Boston back for 4-0 periods but the dam burst in a 34-second space of the third period.

Bronco Horvath skated in close and fired a shot that McCartan blocked. Defenceman Irvin Spencer tried to clear the puck but Horvath intercepted his pass and wasted no time finding his target.

ROOKIE GETS WINNER

Rookie right-winger Dick Meisner took Don McKenney's pass 34 seconds later and put the Bruins ahead to stay. McCartan never saw his blistering 35-foot shot.

New York took a 2-1 lead in the first period on goals by Dean Prentice, his 29th, and Andy Heberton. Doug Mohs scored for the Bruins on a play with Meisner and McKenney. McKenney's two assists brought his season's total to 48, best in the league and a Boston club record. Herbie Cain, whose scoring title in 1943-44 was the last by a Bruin, had 46 assists that season.

BOY FINED FOR RIFLE

All His Virtues No Safety Catch

(From Duncan Bureau)

Courtesy, cordiality, and honesty were of little use to a juvenile who pleaded guilty in Duncan police court to having carried a firearm without the supervision of an adult.

William Fowkes, game warden, praised his qualities, but said "something had to be done to stop presumptive and impulsive shooting," and recommended his gun be taken away.

Juvenile court judge A. C. Sutton fined the lad $10 and $5.50 costs, and ordered the rifle confiscated.

No Immunity From Tax Boost

The B.C. legislature gave second reading Wednesday to a bill removing immunity from school tax boosts for Port Alberni operations of Macmillan and Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

J. Donald Smith (S.C. Victoria) said he hoped the government would give similar consideration to Victoria in the future. (Empress Hotel has a flat rate tax deal with the city which tends to excuse the hotel from meeting boosts in school taxes to the detriment of other taxable properties.)

The Port Alberni firm had an agreement with the city which still had five years to run. It fixed the assessment of the property at $100,000 and the assessment for machinery and improvements at $700,000.

FULL SHARE PAID
The company gave the city a grant in lieu of increased school taxes which would have been chargeable if the agreement did not exist and in the past two years has paid the city its full share of general purpose taxes.

But the city has been fighting for recision of the assessment agreement since 1956. The company won a legal battle on the claim. Attorney-General Robert Bonner said despite the court decision the arrangement was not in keeping with government policy.

The company holdings are now valued a more than $32,000,000.
Mr. Bonner noted the bill if passed would not become law until proclaimed. "If any better arrangement can be arrived at" by the company and the city—it might never be enforced, he said.

Dial Switchover Starts

(From Duncan Bureau)

Installation of equipment will begin this week for a B.C. Telephone Company 20-line community exchange to serve Thetis and Kuper Islands starting May 1.

Equipment will be located in the Thetis Island Marine Medical Mission building. Dial service will replace crank-type telephones and operator service from Chemainus. Cost of the conversion will be about $34,000.

Lionel Huxtable, district commercial manager, said

crews have completed a $12,000 program of new cable and wire on both islands, including the laying of a submarine cable between Thetis and Kuper Islands. Service will extend south on Kuper

Island to the Indian Mission School.
Circuits will be provided to Chemainus to coincide with the conversion of Chemainus exchange to dial service, also on May 1.

$850,000 Job For Crofton Mill

CROFTON—Installation of new machinery and equipment will begin shortly at the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill here, it was announced in Vancouver today by C. D. Dickey Jr., company president.

The program, to cost $850,000 and take eight months to complete, will be designed to improve manufacturing efficiencies and upgrade the quality of the product rather than to increase production, Mr. Dickey said.

The mill began production of bleached kraft pulp in the winter of 1958. Shipments are made directly by both ships and railroad to destinations throughout the world.

Ottawa Funeral For Minister

Funeral services were held in Ottawa today for Rev. D'Arcy Whitmore, 90, retired United Church minister and father of Rev. Cecil Whitmore, of Sidney, who died at his home in the capital, Saturday.

Two of Mr. Whitmore's three sons followed him into the ministry. His other clergyman son is at Nelson.

A DOLLAR FOR EACH DAY OF YEAR

GALIANO ISLAND — The Red Cross campaign here went "over the top" well ahead of time this week, with $365 donated in the drive to raise $350.

"One dollar for each day of the year," said campaign director Mrs. D. A. New.

When reminded this is leap year, she hurriedly raised another dollar.

Forest Adviser Post Approved

(From Duncan Bureau)

NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council Wednesday confirmed the appointment of Frank G. Rainsford, Victoria, as municipal forest consultant at a retaining fee of $100 per month, and a cost of $50 per day for field work.

The agreement will be reviewed in six months' time, Reeve D. C. Morton said.

(From Duncan Bureau)

NORTH COWICHAN — First figures showing North Cowichan municipal costs for school purposes of $420,420 for Cowichan District 65 and $162,138 for Ladysmith District 67, were approved Wednesday by the municipal council.

Municipal officials estimated the 1960 expenditure for Cowichan would add three and one-half mills to the ratepayer's bill, bringing the total to 20 mills.

Mill rate for Ladysmith would be increased by nine and one-half mills to a record 30.21 mills.

Municipal clerk A. Vandecasteyen said that because of some surplus in 1959 the increases would actually be eight and one-half mills for Ladysmith and two mills for North Cowichan.

MORE AHEAD

"We're going to have to face rising costs for a number of years yet. This is a district where the school population increases by 10 per cent a year," George Whittaker, Cowichan School Board chairman, said Wednesday. The school board's budget will be released next week.

Regarding the costs, Coun. A. Staples said: "Eight and one-half mills! Lord love us." Council approved the estimates after Reeve D. C. Morton remarked: "Year after year we have gone into these estimates, and the amount disputable is about $300 out of $753,000."

He was a member of the Victoria fire department and an ardent football player. In 1897 he went to the Klondike and spent four years there living the gold rush before returning to Victoria.

He married Donald McCall in 1909 in Nanaimo. The couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last September.

DE GAULLE CHALLENGED ON FARM PRICES FREEZE

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle today faced the most serious challenge from the National Assembly of his 21 months in power.

A majority of deputies demanded a special session of the assembly—not due to meet until April 26—to debate the government's freezing of farm prices as an anti-inflation move.

Ike Proposes Drive To Sell U.S. Goods

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower proposed a new program of vigorous salesmanship today to stimulate the flow of U.S. products abroad.

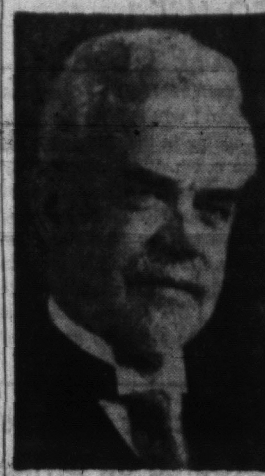

He said in a special message to Congress that "a more vigorous effort by both government and business to improve our capacity for international competition" is necessary since this country no longer commands a sellers' market overseas.

No new legislation is needed to authorize the expanded program, at least for the present, but the president said Congress will be asked for additional funds to finance it.

BENNETT DENIES PGE CHARGE

No Favors for Gunderson

The implication that a freight handling firm headed by an associate of PGE general manager Einar Gunderson was getting preferred treatment from the railway, was denied by Premier Bennett Wednesday.

Answering questions on the House order paper which had been filed by George Gregory (Lib-Victoria) the premier referred to W. L. Laird Distributors Ltd. of Vancouver.

Mr. Gregory asked whether the firm had been given freight rate reductions and permitted to delay payment of its accounts since "one Walton, of Gunderson, Stokes, Walton and Co. became president in 1959?"

The premier replied the firm only received freight cuts which were given to all shippers. He said the company owes $30,805 due since August and September, 1959. He said the company did $155,000 worth of business with the railway in 1958 and $166,000 in 1959. No credit period was allowed the company.

Answering a question posed by CCF leader Robert Strachan the premier said the B.C. Power Commission had been invited by Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. to join in the

Portrait: Richard Nixon

(This is the last in a series of articles based on the book, "Richard Nixon, a Political and Personal Portrait," by Earl Mazo, published by Harper & Brothers, N.Y.)

By EARL MAZO

The questions most often asked about Richard Nixon relate to his convictions, his political principles, the sort of president he would be, and his attitude toward people.

A rigid evaluation of his whole record, the red and the black, his personal and political background, searching talks with scores of his friends and enemies, and a series of candid interviews with him between Nov. 1957, and Jan. 1959, supply answers as well as some surprises.

Essentially a cautious individual, he doesn't wish away risks. Few contemporaries can match his political boldness. Nixon has a taste for ideas and provocative conversation and is one of those rare politicians who would rather listen than talk. He constantly probes for opinions.

No Great Wit

Frequently, his friends, the elevator operators, maintenance men and clerks on Capitol Hill, make more sense than his colleagues, the administration executives and congressmen. When it comes to witticisms, Nixon is no Alben Barkley or Goodie Knight. Neither is he as dour and humorless as he seems. He usually is quite the life of small parties.

Nothing about Nixon's public image is less accurate than the view of him as a cold fish with little liking for people. His own reticence is partly to blame. In his personal life he is a man of consideration, and many have had cause to be grateful for his good works. Nixon is often said to have no interest in the welfare of minorities and to sail with the political winds on civil rights. It is symptomatic of one of his failings as a politician that one has to dig long and hard to become convinced of his sincerity in this area.

Qualities Obscured

His shyness and his obsession about the privacy of what he regards as personal matters obscure many attractive qualities. His intimates have always known that this man simply has no sense of racial or religious bigotry. Tolerance has been a way of life in his family.

Nixon's domestic credo is conservative. He is, so to speak, a conservative with a practical yardstick. He is well acquainted with the internal and external forces that make the government's wheels turn, and he applies a simple—perhaps oversimple—rule of thumb to ideas and programs: "Will it work?"

Timidity in politics and government is so distasteful to Nixon that he refers to neuter, play-it-safe politicians as "gutless wonders."

Public Relations

He feels that conscientious candidates and public officials should view "this fetish about being noncontroversial" with skepticism. "There are many who believe, particularly with the advent of television, that the most effective way to win for candidates to have a public relations outfit take a very scientific poll of what issues interest the public and then avoid all which are controversial and speak out only on those which are what they call 'safe,'" Nixon says.

"I will have to admit that this approach seems to work in some instances. What I believe, however, flies straight in the face of the advice of most of the public relations experts because most of them to whom I have talked throw up their hands in horror whenever a candidate suggests that he might take a strong position on an issue before they are sure that overwhelming public opinion is already in favor of his stand."

Might Get Votes

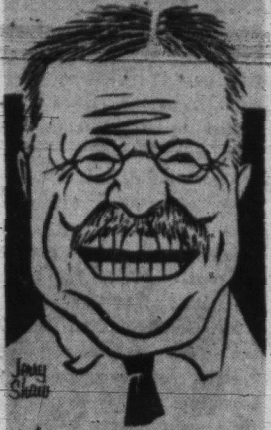

He concedes that "just saying what the public relations people tell you to say might win in any given election," but adds: "It is wrong because in the long run it not only will not win, but more important than that, I think in the long run that type of approach would be catastrophic for the country."

"Speaking as a Republican—and I would say the same if I were a Democrat—I think it would be catastrophic for our major parties if a majority of the leaders adopted that weak and spineless approach."

What kind of president would Nixon be? Well, to begin with, he would be perhaps the hardest-driving chief executive and the most controversial since Theodore Roosevelt. There would be nothing haphazard, nothing bland about his administration, nor any doubt about its political identity.

Energy Infusion

It would have holdovers from the Eisenhower regime, but under Nixon they would move more energetically. And when the party's call to battle sounded, cabinet members and other administration chieftains would most likely take to the hustings instead of touring far-away places or tarrying in Washington, as has become customary.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT ... Dick has his qualities

In fundamental outlook, a Nixon administration would not differ radically from the Eisenhower administration. Essentially, it would maintain the familiar image of being conservative on domestic matters and internationalist in foreign affairs.

But Nixon is not merely an "Eisenhower Republican"—he is a "Nixon-Eisenhower Republican"—and his innate tendencies are much less conservative than Eisenhower's. As president, Nixon's primary interest would be foreign relations. He would have a strong secretary of state, one who could best fit the mold of Dulles, whom he esteemed.

Conviction Needed

To deal with the Communists, Nixon is convinced American diplomats must have "a quality of unshakable conviction and character which an individual develops only through experience in handling the toughest practical problem."

Nixon sees that quality in a few well-known political and diplomatic figures, and also in several labor leaders.

A union official is often on the guest list when the vice-president entertains for visiting statesmen, and some probably would have important state department assignments after an overhaul of the government's overseas personnel policies, which would be Nixon's first major undertaking.

No one, whether in dismay or in admiration, can expect that Richard Nixon would be a weak executive.

MARGARET TO USE STATE COACH

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret will ride to her May 6 wedding in the crimson Irish state coach. Workmen already have given it a new coat of varnish and tested its springs. Experts say it gives an easier, less rolling ride than the bigger Coronation state coach. The Queen used the Irish state coach to go to her wedding.

TV Script Writers Ordered on Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Writers' Guild of America has ordered its members who write free-lance scripts for television films to go on strike against the three television networks at midnight Friday.

Among the shows affected: Gunsmoke, Bonanza, Peery Mason, Rawhide, Hotel de Paree, Twentieth Century, Conquest and Have Gun, Will Travel.

The writers are demanding payment for foreign use as well as increased payment for reruns in the U.S. of TV films.

Monthly meeting of the board of directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been postponed one week, from this Friday to March 25.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

How to Remove Paint...and Live

Boat owners have been rescued from the hazards of paint and varnish removal by modern chemical paint removers, which have eliminated the fire hazard of the blow torch method of removing paint by burning.

Until recently, chemical paint removers were considered unsafe because they were highly inflammable, and being toxic, hazardous to health.

There are now several paint removers in which these undesirable features have been eliminated.

These new removers are merely brushed on like paint, and after a short waiting period to allow the remover to work, the old paint or varnish can be lifted off with a broad putty knife.

A receptacle should be handy in which to drop the old paint as it is removed. Otherwise, it will soon be found in the most unexpected places.

Pieces will cling to your shoes and next appear on the living room rug.

The proper method of using paint remover varies with the different makes. It is therefore important that the instructions on the can be carefully followed. The working time of some removers is critical and the paint will redden if not removed within the prescribed period. Others contain

It would cost more than $100 in Victoria, and they have not yet reached local markets. The skiers around local waters seem to manage nicely with signals, and the thing strikes me as being about as necessary as a third ski. However, clubs could make good use of it in training youngsters, and it would be a lot of fun for people who don't have to ride close herd on $100.

Father Has Son Arrested After Discovering Drugs

LOCAL BRIEFS

Two teen-aged boys each were fined $20 when they appeared in Saanich police court Tuesday charged with being in possession of liquor.

A Saanich man who threw a clock at his wife was put on good behavior bond when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday to common assault.

Robert James Bugg, Jr., 29, Regina, was charged with assaulting his wife, Rochelle Marie Bugg, and was put on $250 bond.

Winners of Tuesday's Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club tournament at Holyrood House were, 1st section: Cam Wallis and Frank Annis; Otto Leesment and John Alcorn; Bill Simpson-Baile and Doug Hawkes.

Second section: Audrey Jorgensen and Stan Trickey; Jack Goldie and Dick Lipsey; Elizabeth Warren and Les Stenart.

It was announced the unit monthly master points will not be held this Saturday because of the Sectional Tournament at Empress Hotel, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Matheson Lake in Metchosin district has been closed to fishing until further notice. The department of recreation and conservation order was issued to protect new stocks of bass recently planted in the lake.

VANCOUVER (CP)—"I went to the people I thought could give him help," said James Burton with quiet determination. "What else could I do?"

Mr. Burton spoke after his 17-year-old son, Richard Allan, was led away Wednesday to serve a one-year jail sentence for illegal possession of narcotics. His father turned him in to police one week ago.

"There's a lot of shame and pain this way, but it's the only way," said Mr. Burton. "He's ashamed now, we know that." The youth was arrested after his father went to police and reported he had searched his son's room and found a hypodermic needle and a blackened spoon—the tools of a drug addict.

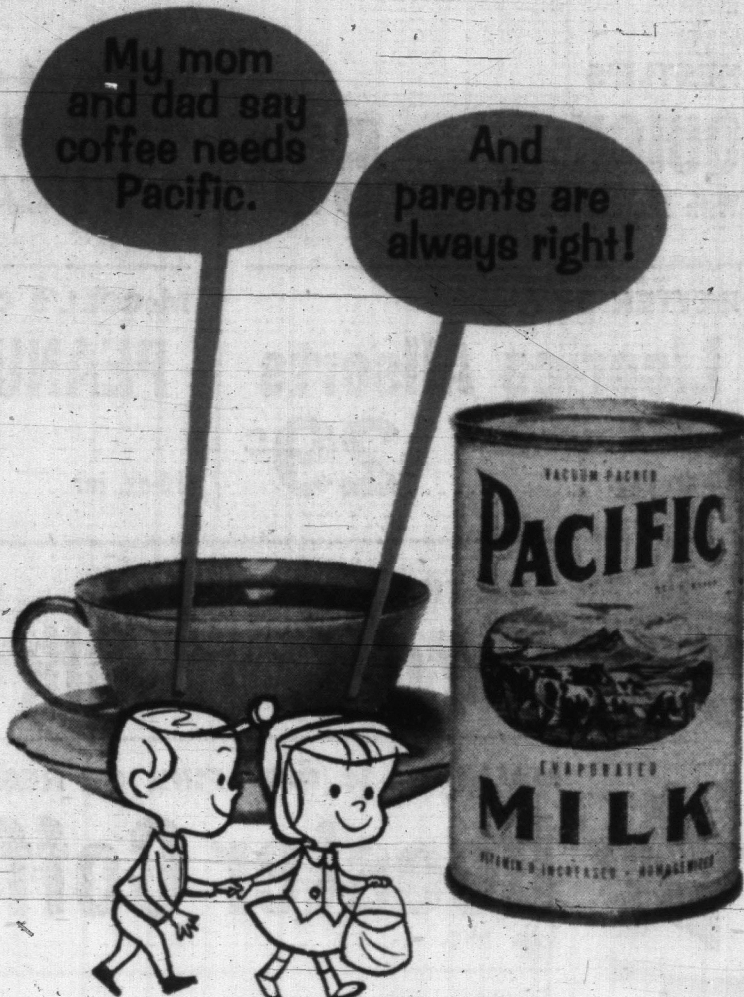

Mr. Burton said he had been suspicious of some of his son's actions.

"Just a feeling," he explained. "I was watching a show about drugs on television. When it was over I went upstairs to Allan's bedroom. I don't know what I expected to find."

Mr. Burton, a 45-year-old welder, stood by while two detectives awoke the youth next morning and arrested him.

Mrs. Evelyn Burton said her husband made the difficult decision, primarily to help Allan but also to protect their other children—Jim, 18, Linda, 13, and Michael, 11.

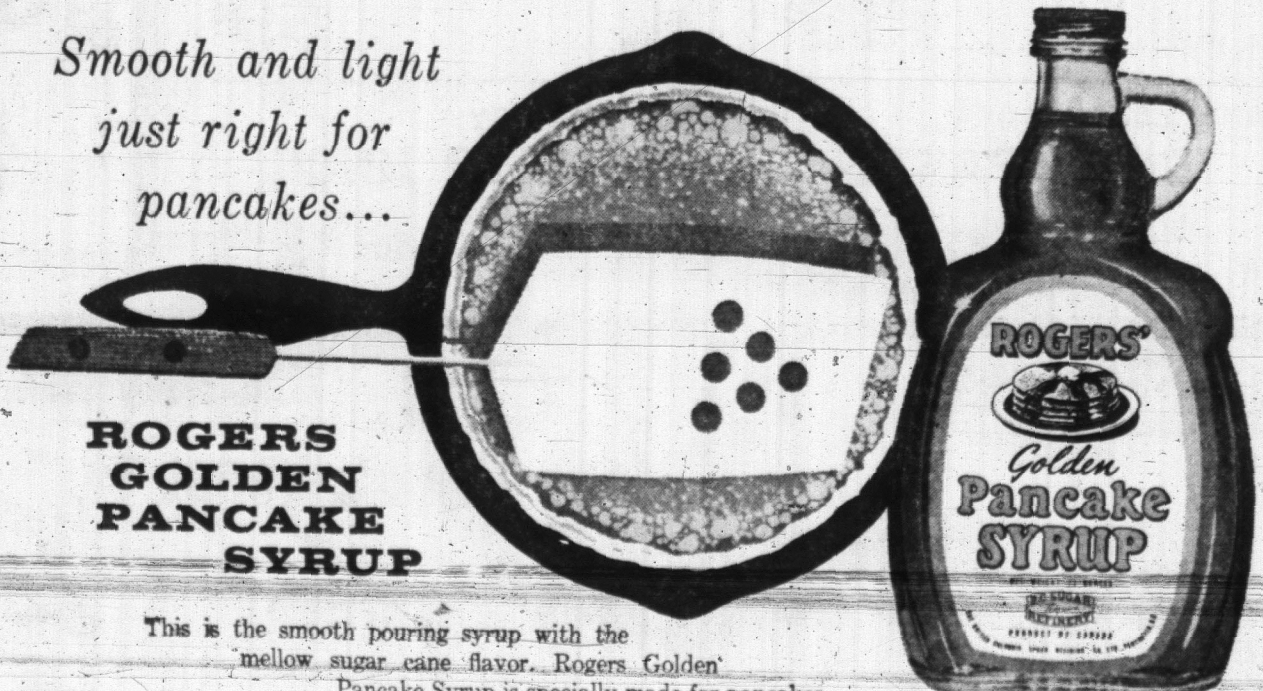

"What could we do?" she asked also. "Hide him in the basement and watch him get worse?"

Don't Be Afraid Of Really Living

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Most people don't live," said Edward G. Robinson. "They worry about the after life—and they haven't really lived here."

"Living itself is a really rare thing. So very few people actually do live. They don't venture forth enough to be what they could be, which is themselves."

At 66, Robinson, a lower east side New York boy who yearned in his youth to be a minister and wound up a rich and famous actor, is convinced that the thing which defeats most people is fear.

"They are afraid of living itself... the torment and consequences of living," he mused over a luncheon steak.

"We are raised up narrow minded, and if we are to grow we must re-evaluate things."

"Many people are afraid of living because they are unwilling to pay the price. You can't really duck the price. Happiness and unhappiness are interwoven in every life."

"Tragedy comes to everyone, and I think I've had my share. But if you don't let tragedy defeat you, you become that much richer as a human being."

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

The pint-sized actor, who was born in Bucharest, Romania, carved successful careers on stage, screen and radio.

Robinson, who has a speaking knowledge of nine languages, believes living is complicated by too many unnecessary barriers.

"I like to break down all barriers that separate people from people," he said. "It is the most vital need in the world today. Somehow we haven't succeeded in doing it."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

BEVERLY HILLS — One of the most widely printed untruths about Hollywood is that everybody's always trying to impress you.

Rita Hayworth and her husband, producer-writer James Hill, recently invited the Beautiful Wife and me to dinner.

When we arrived about dusk, we were ushered into the magnificent home—not by a footman or maid or secretary—but by Rita, herself, Hayworth.

Jim, a lean, good-looking, youthful in appearance, was rushing around serving drinks to another couple, screen writer Ben Maddow and Mrs. Maddow.

Princess Yasmin, daughter of Rita and Aly Khan, now 10, was leaning over the back of a couch, but she scuttled off to her own room.

"What do they call her at school — 'Princess'?" I asked Rita.

"Oh, no!" Rita laughed. "They call her 'Yazzy' — and she loves it."

rita and hubby... just plain folks

Not once did Rita or Jim, now married just over two years, try to impress us with any of their possessions or any mention of their achievements.

In fact, they tried hard to talk to us about us. But as there wasn't much about us that was worth talking about, I got the conversation around to them.

"Well?" said Jim, half an hour after our arrival. With Rita's subtle smile and purse in his hand, he led us all out to a car, a Cadillac, but not a new one, and himself took the wheel.

Rita sat beside him and I sat beside her in the front seat (as close as I could, too).

"We're going to the Beverly Hilton," Jim said.

Anybody trying to impress you would have said, "We're going to the Escoffier Room." A few minutes later we were at that beautiful restaurant looking out the picture windows at the lights of Hollywood and Beverly Hills and studying the ornate menus. (I tried to keep my eye off the prices.)

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Barbara Beck, aged 11, of Lakewood, Ohio, for her question:

What Is a Gooney Bird?

This majestic bird is lord of the wide oceans and he may spend months without sighting land. When hungry, he dips into the water for fish, little squid and other sea dwellers. When tired, he simply sits down and floats like a duck on the rolling waves.

Almost always, he travels alone though he is friendly and may follow a ship for days. He was named the gooney bird, alias frigate bird by the mariners of old sailing ships. They loved to watch him following their ships, soaring and wheeling without seeming to move his wings for hour after hour.

The old time sailors felt there was something eerie about this wide-winged bird. It was lucky, they said, to have him around. But, if a sailor killed or harmed the gooney bird—then woe betide that ship. Yes, the gooney bird is the tragic hero of the famous story poem, the Rhyme and semi-tropical oceans around the world.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Joan Young, aged 12, of El Cajon, Calif., for her question:

What does the word zoology mean?

The second part of this word comes from an older Greek word meaning discourse, study or science. Biology, the study of living things, and bacteriology, the study of bacteria, use the same root. The first part of the word zoology comes from a Greek word meaning animal. Biology is the study of all living things, plants and animals. Zoology is the study of the animal kingdom.

No zoologist could be an expert in all aspects of zoology—there are so many animals past and present. So the huge science is broken down into a great many branch studies. Bacteriology is a branch of zoology, ichthyology, the study of fishes, is a branch of zoology and so is ornithology, the study of birds. A fairly new branch, growing in importance, is ecology, the study of animals in relation to their life of solitude over the tropical

Paddles for Take-Off

However, the big bird can take off from the water. He has very large feet and the three front toes are webbed. He runs along, beating the water at the surface, flapping his huge wings. At last he soars into the air. His great wings may be 12 feet from tip to tip. The word albatross is coined from an older word meaning white. The wandering albatross is white as driven snow, accented with jet black wing tips. His wife is white, blotched with brown marks on her neck and back. Other members of the albatross family are smaller and less white and some are too timid to come near ships.

Mr. and Mrs. Gooney Bird are seldom seen together. They rendezvous at nest building time on some bleak island in the icy Antarctic waters. There they build a nest of mud and grasses on the ground. The mother bird lays but one egg and both parents tend it with loving care. Soon after Junior learns to fly, the family separates. Each goes his or her separate way to lead a life of solitude over the tropical

Open Up Roads Chamber's Plea

Top Issue As Island Meet Opens

Road access on Vancouver Island, especially to the north, will be one of the main issues under discussion at the 42nd annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, which opened today in Port Alberni.

Campbell River Chamber of Commerce will ask support of resolutions to make the vast area to its west and north available to private citizens.

Among these are bids to have the Elk River-Gold River road opened to private cars during hours when it is not needed for logging purposes, to improve the road from Elk Falls Park to Camp Eight, or Quinsam, and to establish a road over the shortest route between Camp Eight and Upper Campbell Lake.

The Campbell River Chamber also will ask that a short-term fresh water angler's licence be provided for out-of-province fishermen to save them the cost of a $7 licence for the year.

Tofino Chamber of Commerce will propose that the Alberni-Tofino road, opened last fall, be kept open to the public at all times.

It is closed during logging company working hours, but the chamber feels it should be opened because of its tourist value and the fact that it gives the only Island access to the open Pacific Ocean.

Campsites at west coast points, establishment of a ferry service between Quadra Island and Lund on the mainland, extension of the Island highway to Port Hardy, and regulation of salmon "mooching" in Cowichan Bay also will be sought.

Featured speakers will be Dr. Gordon Shrum of the UBC physics department; Ernest Evans, B.C. Government Travel Bureau director; Lloyd McKenzie, Victoria lawyer, and Marilyn Ardley, Victoria University student council president.

The convention will end Saturday.

UN Trip Prize For High School Speaking Contest

An all-expense-paid trip to the United Nations headquarters in New York will be top prize in a speaking contest Tuesday for eight Grade 11 students from city high schools.

Sponsored by Oddfellows Victoria Lodge No. 1 and Rebekah Lodges Colfax No. 1, and Carle No. 45, the contest will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the Oddfellows Hall on Douglas.

All competitors will speak on: "Why I would like to see the United Nations in Action."

The United Nations Association in Canada also is sponsoring its annual high school seminar on the UN this summer.

Representatives from each of the Greater Victoria senior high schools are expected to join about 100 B.C. high school students at the seminar in the University of B.C. Aug. 28-Sept. 2.

Local students will be selected as delegates by school UN clubs during May.

ASK The TIMES

Q: I have an idea for an invention. What can I do about having it made and patented?

A.M.C.

A: Best procedure is to have a lawyer make a search of patents on file in Ottawa to see if your invention has not already been patented. If it has not been patented, you may take out a patent. About having it made—well, it would depend whether your invention is a better mouse-trap or something more complex. You might make it yourself, or interest a firm in its manufacture.

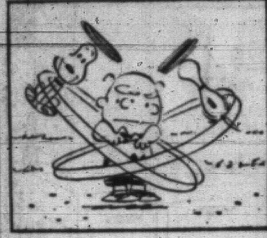

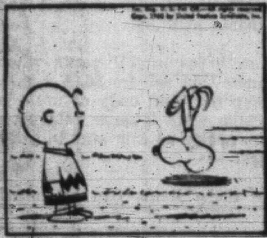

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve crimes or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

COIN SOCIETY AIDS IN WRECK

Victoria Numismatic Society has undertaken to supervise research into a coin found in the "mystery wreck" of a sailing ship during RCN diving operations in Sydney Inlet this week.

The blackened, encrusted coin was found under the step of one of the masts, and may provide a clue to the date of the wreck.

Car 'Borrower' Jailed 30 Days After Chase

Three Charges Before Court

Driver of a car which led a city motorcycle officer on a wild two-mile chase early Saturday was sentenced in city police court today to a total 30 to 35 days in jail.

George P. Thomas, Mount Newton Cross Road, pleaded guilty to criminally negligent driving, which drew 30 days; taking a car without the owner's consent, bringing a concurrent sentence of 30 days, and driving without a licence, for which he was fined $35 or an additional five days in jail.

Noting a pre-sentence report on Thomas, Magistrate William Ostler called the accused's conduct of the past few years "completely irresponsible."

He said, "You are going to have to learn more responsible behavior if you are going to get along in the community."

Thomas took a car belonging to Patrick Smith, Brentwood, from Fisgard Street at 1 a.m., drove it recklessly over waterfront streets, Johnson Street bridge and Esquimalt Road, going into broadside skids on each turn, and finally lost control at Head and Lampson in Esquimalt, where he bolted into the bush.

Shotguns For Police

City constables are "riding shotgun" in police cars as a wild west atmosphere envelops Victoria.

Armed with revolvers and shotguns, police cruisers are ready to strike back instantly at Vancouver gangs operating here.

Mayor Percy Scourrah, police commission chairman, today said:

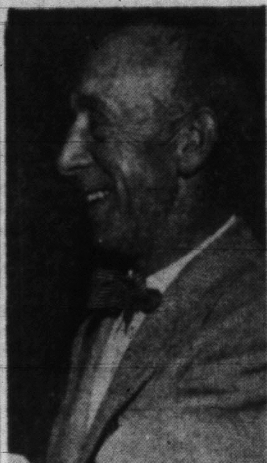

"We are very conscious of the situation's seriousness and we have taken every measure humanly possible to combat it."

However, he added that heavily armed policemen "are fully cognizant" of their responsibilities in using firearms.

Mayor Scourrah also revealed that the police commission would pay for repairs to Const. Albert Wells' car. It was used to ram a fleeing station wagon during a shot-filled chase Saturday night following a jewellery store break-in.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. B.C. Forest Service information director David Monk will speak on "Fascinating Forest Future."

ARTHUR DOWELL succeeds Ian Ross

Alderman Leads Tourist Promoters

Ald. Arthur Dowell today was named president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

He succeeds Ian Ross, manager of Butchart Gardens.

Board of directors also approved a lifetime pension for retired publicity bureau manager George Warren.

Named to the bureau's finance committee were: Ald. Dowell, Mayor Percy Scourrah, Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch, Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele, Empress Hotel manager Cyril Chapman, and Eaton's department store manager William Gilmour.

From notes, the doctor read a statement by the accused in which she told him "they wanted to kill me because I was not good enough for their social position."

She had charged also that "an Indian guide" had been hired to kill her.

It was then Dr. Alcorn recommended Mrs. Davis be admitted to the observation ward.

"In my opinion she was suffering a paranoid condition," Mrs. Davis was discharged "more or less against my advice," said the doctor.

BECAME SUSPICIOUS

She herself felt she shouldn't be there, he said. She later "had become suspicious of myself and the staff."

Dr. Alcorn said Mrs. Davis was discharged because to retain persons against their will "without co-operation of relatives" was difficult.

Dr. Alcorn interviewed Mrs. Davis on 15 different occasions during her hospitalization.

Subsequent reports were received by the psychiatrist from Mr. Davis who "insisted she was very well."

The psychiatrist saw her after the slaying and "she was quite confused. She continued to believe there had been a conspiracy against her."

(Mrs. Davis had worked as a housekeeper, in cafes and in a jewelry store before her employment by Mr. Davis as a housekeeper.)

George L. Davis, a brother—the family name of the accused and victim by coincidence is the same—recounted a history of character transformation of his sister from a normal person to one beset by nameless fears.

'BATTLE FATIGUE' DEVASTATES RANKS OF THE SITTING

There were more empty seats than there were members in the legislature early this morning as the House plodded through Provincial Secretary W. D. Black's estimates. Mr. Black, extreme right, and Attorney-General Robert Bonner, resting beside him, show first signs of battle fatigue. The House rose at 12.30 a.m. At 2 this afternoon it was to reconvene to tackle Mr. Black's welfare department estimates. With prorogation set for Friday, mines, public works estimates and many bills remained to be considered.

It was likely there would be another late sitting tonight, despite plea from Leo Nimsick, (CCF-Cranbrook) "We should be allowed to go home." He didn't care if the closure was delayed. Members weren't only ones tired from seven weeks of debate. Sitting before empty desk of premier is "firing-line" messenger—one of many commissioners and other older vets who take over from page boys during the evening sittings. They perform other House duties all day. (Times photo)

VODKA AND CASH

Third Burglary At Golf Club

SHOP-CENTRE LIQUOR STORE FOR COLWOOD?

The B.C. Liquor Control Board is investigating location of a new liquor store in the Langford-Colwood area.

Specific enquiries have been made in connection with premises in the new Colwood Corners shopping centre, it was learned today.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he did not think the plans were advanced, "but the board has been making some enquiries."

Colwood district burglars hit their favorite target — Royal Colwood Golf Club — for the third time since last fall when they stole liquor and cash from an office early today.

Four bottles of rum, a bottle of vodka, $28 in silver and $7 in bills were taken after a cabinet was broken open.

Entry to the clubhouse has been the same in each case, by forcing a front door.

About $100 was stolen in a burglary Feb. 27 and $70 was taken from the office in the break-in about six months ago.

Colwood RCMP said the premises were found secure in a check made at 1.30 a.m. The burglary was discovered at 6.40 a.m. by caretaker James Haynes.

SPECIAL ADDRESS by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside on the United Nations' Technical Assistance Program will be given Monday at 8 p.m. in the music room of the Public Library. Dr. Keenleyside, now B.C. Hydro chairman, was formerly a director of the UN project. The meeting will be open to the public. It is sponsored by the United Nations' Association.

'Let Go Against Advice'

Doctor Testifies At Murder Trial

Mrs. Edith Ethelene Davis was discharged from the observation ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital only 1½ months before the knife-slitting death of her husband William A. Davis, a Victoria psychiatrist testified today.

Dr. D. E. Alcorn told an Assize Court jury Mrs. Davis, who stands charged with the murder which took place Oct. 9, 1947, at 1852 Crescent, had been in the psychiatric ward from Aug. 5 to Aug. 21.

She had been admitted, he said, after going to city police "for protection."

Dr. Alcorn said Mrs. Davis gave him a lengthy statement of her difficulties in which she charged her employers were against her, that her food was poisoned, and that the poison was placed in the food by her husband.

From notes, the doctor read a statement by the accused in which she told him "they wanted to kill me because I was not good enough for their social position."

She had charged also that "an Indian guide" had been hired to kill her.

It was then Dr. Alcorn recommended Mrs. Davis be admitted to the observation ward.

"In my opinion she was suffering a paranoid condition," Mrs. Davis was discharged "more or less against my advice," said the doctor.

BECAME SUSPICIOUS

She herself felt she shouldn't be there, he said. She later "had become suspicious of myself and the staff."

Dr. Alcorn said Mrs. Davis was discharged because to retain persons against their will "without co-operation of relatives" was difficult.

Ken Darley and David Hopson won places in the finals of the 14th annual Golden Gavel competition when they placed first and second in Wednesday's session at the City Hall. The five-day speaking competition is sponsored by the area Toastmasters' Clubs. Next session will be at 8 p.m. Friday in city council chambers.

Mary Richmond, nursing director at Royal Jubilee Hospital for the past nine years, will leave this fall to take over as director of nursing studies in McGill University. Jubilee administrator George Masters announced Wednesday night.

James Derby, of Victoria, was fined $50 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday to a charge of being a minor in possession of liquor.

The legislative committee on public accounts Wednesday claimed the B.C. highways department should narrow its estimates of cost of future projects.

The report to the legislature noted there has been a wide difference between the total price of some highways and the original estimate of tendered price. Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, whose department will spend $85,000,000 this year, said recently in the House that costs often are pushed upward by factors unknown when a job starts, such as hidden rock. "The engineers can't see under the ground," he said.

Purse containing $95 lost by Mrs. Daniel Smith, Brentwood Bay reserve, has been returned to her.

It was found at the VON rummage sale Saturday by an unidentified man who turned the purse over to city police Wednesday.

A fund started by the VON to replace the money lost had "a small amount" in it and money will be returned to contributors.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce members will canvass 600 smaller business firms in Greater Victoria to solicit for the Victoria University building fund.

Members endorsed the proposal at a meeting Wednesday. Canvass will start March 28.

A Glen Lake juvenile boy was assessed $3 costs and put on two months' probation when he appeared in Colwood juvenile court Wednesday on a charge of stealing a bicycle.

The Dickens Fellowship will hold its monthly meeting at the home of the president, E. F. Wetherston, 565 Marielfield Street, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Cadboro Bay Ratepayers' Association will hold a meeting on March 24 at 8 p.m. at St. George the Martyr parish hall to discuss their zoning applications for the establishment of shopping centres in the Cadboro Bay district.

All of the proposed shopping centres are situated in the vicinity of Penrhyn, Cadboro Bay Road, Maynard and Hobbs Road.

New "Do Not Pass" signs have been posted at the borders of four school zones on four-lane streets by city traffic department.

Traffic engineer Norman Worsley today said the signs went up this month as a further conversion to a new manual designed to bring uniformity in traffic signs across Canada.

They replace the "Crosswalk Ahead, No Passing" signs that were located at Douglas at John, Hillside at Rose and Fort at Moss.

Mr. Worsley said traffic ordinances always have prohibited passing at crosswalks but signs were posted at school zones as an extra precaution.

LUCK OF THE IRISH IN COURT

A 'Brake' for St. Patrick

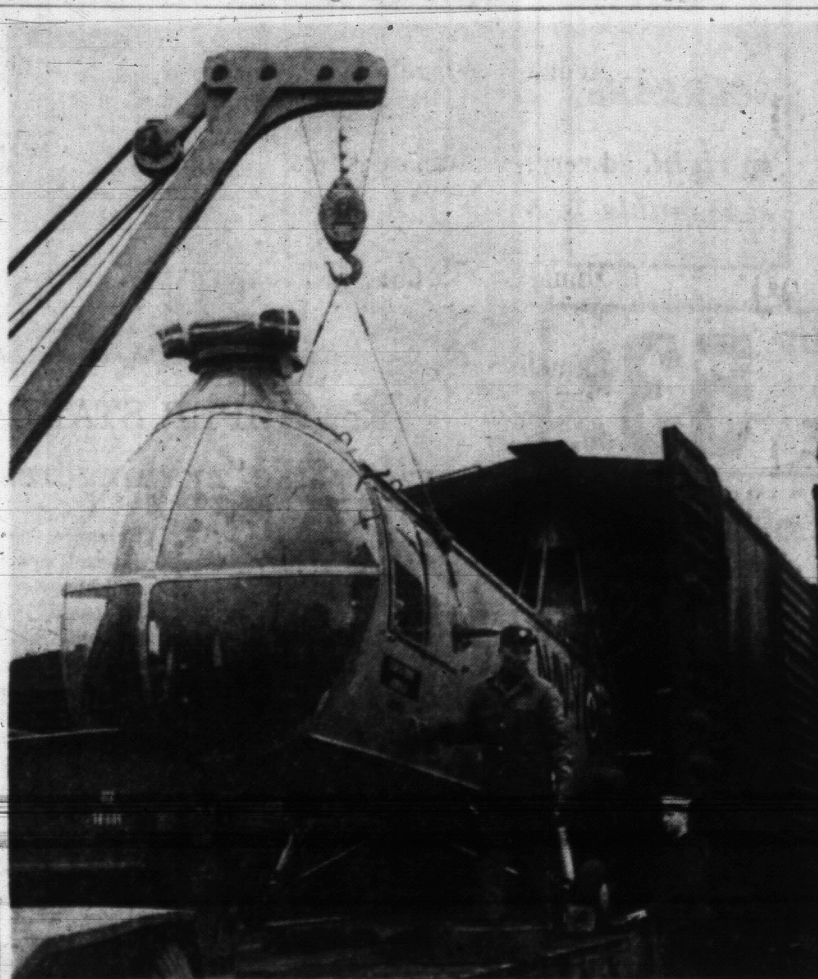

Donald Irish was given a sort of St. Patrick's Day amnesty when a charge against him was withdrawn in city police court today.

Although another charge may be substituted, the 19-year-old motorist went away a free man, having proof of the luck of the Irish.

Irish, of 935 North Park, pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving with inadequate muffler, pointing out to Magistrate William Ostler — who wore a green necktie — that his engine was stopped when a policeman checked him for having an inadequate hand brake.

Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said his particulars related to the hand brake and under the circumstances he would withdraw the charge.

Court stenographer James Mahood duly recorded the proceedings, an amiable smile on his Hibernian features.

THIRD HELICOPTER FOR RCN Pacific Command arrived in Victoria today by boxcar from Amprior, Ont., via Vancouver and Nanaimo. The aircraft, a Piasecki HUP-3, will enable the navy to have two "choppers" available at all times without interfering with maintenance.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Even Your Glasses Can Be Decorative.

Not every woman can afford an eyeglass wardrobe, but it would be fun if every woman could do so. Colored frames are so very flattering that it is too bad that it is sometimes essential to buy frames you can wear with every shade.

If you can afford two sets of glasses, why not select one frame in a color which blends with several of the shades you most often wear?

Blues go with many different colors and it is amazing how many reds look well with it. I myself think that white frames are most attractive with spring and summer pastels and white.

I do not like silver frames on the grey or silver-haired woman. It is too much of a sameness. Pastel frames are becoming to many women. Blondes especially go for them. I think that amber is flattering to more women than a dead brown, and black frames which have some zip to the shape are smart looking.

Of course the shape of the frames is important too. If you have a square face, avoid heavy, square-shaped lenses. The average face will profit by a little upsweep at the frame corners. This is youthful but if the swing is too extreme the glasses will look too small unless you have a very small face.

Guides Raise Funds for Camp

A sum of $200 was raised by Colquitz, Gorge View and Tillamook Girl Guide Associations at a tea and home-baking sale held in Hudson's Bay Douglas Room recently. Proceeds will go to complete the lodge at Kingswood Camp, Saanich. Miniature parasols and blossoms centred tea tables. Mrs. J. T. McKeivitt, divisional commissioner of Saanich division, opened affair.

Redheads must be a little careful about the colors they use for fear of a clash with their vivid tresses. They look joyfully in blues, amber, white, yellow, gold, bronze or green. It really is a mistake to think of your reading glasses or those for distance or your sun glasses as utilitarian only because they can be so decorative, just as any accessory can be.

Blind Woman Aids Handicapped In Thailand and Vietnam Schools

NEW YORK (UPI)—"What comes to your door, you do," says a blind woman who has devoted the bulk of her 72 years to helping others.

But Genevieve Caulfield did not wait at the door—she took a giant step outward to the Orient to aid others similarly handicapped.

Today, home to the Virginia-born Miss Caulfield is a room at a school for the blind in Bangkok, Thailand. It is one of two such schools she pioneered; the other is at Saigon, Vietnam. A third school will be opened this spring in North Thailand.

Miss Caulfield is on one of her periodic visits to her homeland; in other years, she has come to lecture to raise funds for her various projects. This time, it is for the publication of her story, called "The Kingdom Within" (Harper & Brothers).

"I wanted to make sure they didn't come out with some title like 'Out of Darkness Into Light'. I did not want anything to stress the pity or the wonder angle. I was taught at home and at school that the blind have to take their 'place' and be useful in the world."

The author said that loss of sight was the result of an accident when she was an infant. A physician upset a bottle of caustic fluid which splashed across her face and into her eyes. All that is left of vision is the ability to distinguish light and shadow, she said.

Her parents sent her to the Perkins Institution for the Blind in South Boston and the Overbrook School for the Blind in Philadelphia. And Miss Caulfield said that it was as a school girl that she decided her future lay in the Orient. An article on segregation of Japanese children in California schools convinced her much should be done to furthering understanding between east and west.

"But I also knew that I had to be self-sufficient... have some way of earning a living," she said. She chose teaching and graduated with an English major from Columbia Teachers' College, in New York.

"Teaching in the United States for seven years helped her pay her way to Japan in 1923, and more employment in Tokyo teaching English to the Japanese. Eventually, she also adopted a Japanese girl."

Miss Caulfield said that after a lecture trip to the United States in 1937, war with Japan seemed inevitable, so she decided to leave Tokyo for Bangkok, taking along her daughter, now married to a Japanese. Her first project for the blind was well along when Pearl Harbor was bombed.

"The Japanese put her under guard—she was one of four Americans left in Bangkok. But they gave her freedom to go ahead with operation of the school."

Retired Ontario Botanist Finds Area Rich in Interesting Flora

By PAT DUFOUR
Perfect month for collecting flowers—especially wild ones—is January. So says Miss M. C. Melburn, retired botanist, who finds study of flora in this area so fascinating that she wonders "how I could have earned a living if I had been here." Beginning in January, Miss Melburn has found more than 32 species of winter flowering plants.

Under her microscope Miss Melburn examines one of the many species of lichen which she has discovered here.

Miss Melburn graduated from University of Saskatchewan with a master's degree in biology. She wrote her thesis on a cross between wheat and rye from viewpoint of cytology and genetics. After graduation she stayed at the university as lecturer for five years, and during this period formed a collection of 700 plants which she sold to Laval University on retirement in 1950.

LECTURER AND TEACHER

After lecturing period was over Miss Melburn returned to her native province of Ontario to join the staff of the federal division of botany. She later lectured on natural history at the Federal Museum in Ottawa and ended her professional career as a teacher in an intermediate school, equivalent of local junior high school.

"I wasn't interested in teaching at high school level," she says. "Personally, I find that youngsters of this age group are not too concerned with natural history as a rule—awareness of the opposite sex is too distracting a factor. I much prefer teaching the younger group or at the university level!"

When Miss Melburn arrived in Victoria in September, 1950, she found flora of area completely different from that of the Prairies or Ontario.

This started her on another collection which is already well in the hundreds. Many of her specimens have come from Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary for which she is an ardent booster.

LOVES THETIS PARK

Honorary secretary and treasurer of the sanctuary association, she takes great pride in fact that membership which started at four in 1957 now stands at 515.

"The park has been divided into four areas," she explains, "this make it easier to catalogue all wild life. Already we have found 340 species of flowering plants and ferns, 32 species of trees and shrubs, 60 kinds of lichen, 55 fungi and 20 species of mosses."

Many of these were previously unknown in British Columbia and specimens have been sent to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington for checking purposes. As well as plant life, 50 types of birds, 15 mammals and 38 species of butterflies have been noted.

Keen that the park may eventually be offered to, and administered by the provincial government, Miss Melburn cited logging of Panhandle area as example of what happens when conservation is ignored.

"They didn't have all the necessary equipment and now the area is a shambles of downed logs. Weeds have taken over—some are literally as tall as I am!"

This interesting woman stresses that main value of Thetis Park lies in preserving wild life for present and future generations. "At a time when our 'green spots' are rapidly being obliterated it is imperative to hold on to such places. The sanctuary provides a fund of educational material," she says.

United Nations Commissions Aid in Many Parts of World

Outline of advanced scientific and technical knowledge offered the less developed parts of the world by United Nations since World War Two was given the University Women's Club of Victoria at meeting Wednesday evening.

Speaker was Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.G. Power Commission, who, a few years ago headed a UN commission of this kind to Bolivia.

Dr. Keenleyside told of a commission sent to Greece, where lack of protein in the diet of the people was studied and measures taken to improve the situation; to Haiti, where "fish farming" was introduced; to Karachi, where the low production of steel mills was investigated by a Yugoslavian expert, resulting in increased mill output.

High incidence of blindness in Egypt was studied and measures that considered both cause and result introduced to improve this condition.

"World Health Organization assisted in setting up a program to improve sanitary conditions," Dr. Keenleyside said. "Lack of which was a factor in the cause of the disease."

"A school for training of the blind was also established. . . . These are a few examples of the many ways in which the UN has given a helping hand."

The speaker reminded the group that the idea of giving technical assistance "is by no means a new one."

"It goes back as far as Biblical times," he pointed out.

"Today, however, the question is how to provide for the social and technical development of countries as well as give the assistance."

Speaker was introduced by Mrs. R. S. Twining and thanked by Miss Patricia Hamilton Smith.

Mrs. H. R. Turner presided and membership convener, Mrs. A. H. Gunning, introduced new members, Mrs. M. W. E. Allen, Mrs. W. B. Little, Mrs. D. C. Michael, Mrs. A. R. Mills, Mrs. G. P. Palenkaide and Mrs. C. H. Smith.

Mrs. D. L. South, treasurer, announced that $135.35 had been realized at the scholarship tea.

Mrs. R. A. Fraser reports that 230 delegates have registered for the regional conference to be held in Victoria on March 27.

Mrs. T. G. Hatcher, social convener, served coffee, assisted by Mrs. J. M. Finnis, Mrs. C. M. Matheson, Mrs. A. R. Mills, Mrs. E. G. Tallman and Mrs. J. G. Taylor.

Fashion Show for Men; Male Models, Commentator

TORONTO (CP)—The audience "oohed and aahed" appropriately at the styling of the coat.

The model walked nonchalantly around the room showing off an $1,800 pure vicuna topcoat complete with mink collar.

Chicago-styled coat was one of more than a dozen men's fashions unveiled recently by the Toronto club of the Merchants Tailors of America.

Male models, who admitted they were slightly self-conscious, showed spring outfits that would make the most unconcerned male look twice.

Toronto tailor Neil Maukonen was resplendent in his own creation of a finely checked suit, matching spats and pure silk vest. The elegant outfit complemented his van Dyke beard. There were no cuffs on the trousers but there were half cuffs on the sleeves of the jacket.

A charcoal brown tuxedo was resplendent with brocade facings and a matching brocade vest.

For the elite there was a black mohair topcoat line with white satin.

Commentator Chris Wahlroth told reporters at a special press preview that men are buying the same fashions that the dandies wore in the gay nineties.

The colors this season are olive shades and burgundy.

DEAR ABBY

Here, There and Everywhere!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if you think my mother-in-law is "all there." She lost her husband about a year ago. The first six months she spent crying to everyone who'd listen to her. (I know it is sad to be left a widow, but she did have 38 happy married years, and her husband left her in good financial shape.)

Lately she has spent almost every day riding around on a certain bus. She sits behind the bus driver and talks to him. She says this is her only pleasure. I have seen this bus driver and he acts very annoyed with her.

Do you think it's right of my mother-in-law to force her company on a poor defenseless bus driver? Or shouldn't somebody tell her to leave him alone?

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW: It seems to me that there are rules about passengers needlessly talking to bus drivers. (Their duties require their undivided attention.) Stay out of it. Maybe the bus driver will tell her where to get off.

DEAR ABBY: Have you a solution for neighbors who use your phone more than you do?

They have a habit of walking right in. We can't lock our door because of the kiddies running in and out. It starts early in the morning and we have had them coming in as late as midnight to use the phone. We can't even use our own phone in private because they will come in and stand in the same room with you until you hang up.

TELEPHONE OWNERS

DEAR OWNERS: Some people have to be told bluntly that they are abusing a privilege. Tell these clods that you have a one-party line — and you're the party!

DEAR ABBY: My husband caught me in a lie once. (Nothing serious. I told him I was going to a movie with my mother, but instead I went to a bar with an old flame. Nothing happened.)

Anyway, ever since then he has been checking up on me. It is very embarrassing. He calls my mother and sisters and wants to know where I am every minute I am away from home. That lie he caught me in happened two years ago, but he can't seem to forget it.

How can I prove to him once and for all that I can be trusted?

NOT TRUSTED

DEAR NOT: It won't be easy. Trust is built on actions, not words. Behave as a woman and not a moth and one day your husband will realize that checking up on you is a waste of time. Then he'll quit.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE NEW GIRL": Wait until he tries it again. When you are sure his intentions are strictly dishonorable, let him have it with the paperweight.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know," send 25c and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

'Civil Service Insulted'

CCF leader Robert Strachan accused Public Works Minister W. N. Chant in the legislature Wednesday night of insulting British Columbia civil servants.

During debate on estimates for the Civil Service Commission, Mr. Strachan said Mr. Chant had made "shocking and reprehensible" statements about civil servants in a speech to the House.

Mr. Chant had stated that civil servants had been referred to as "second-class citizens," adding that, if they were, it was before Social Credit came into office in 1952. Mr. Strachan said this was insulting to civil servants who worked under previous governments, long before Social Credit took office.

He objected strongly to a statement by Mr. Chant that "under patronage and political expediency" the civil service had become "a haven for the inefficient and the lazy."

"He has also spoken of liquor in office hours."

Mr. Chant: "Do you deny those conditions existed?"

Mr. Strachan answered that the minister should be "thoroughly ashamed of himself."

Mr. Chant: "A lot of noise and bluster."

Mr. Strachan: "I am quoting your speech if that is what you mean."

Tourist Hails 'Generous' Police

A San Diego man says tourists who commit motoring offences in Victoria are "more generously" treated by police than they are in his home town.

In a letter printed in the San Diego Evening Tribune, E. Wilkinson of 1821 First Avenue, San Diego, said:

"I am enclosing a parking ticket which I received while on a visit to Victoria, B.C., Canada, last year.

"It notes that I parked over time, asks me not to do it again, and then goes into a very courteous welcome to the city.

"On the other side of the ticket is a list of points of interest in Victoria and an invitation to receive further information at Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

APPRECIATE TOURISTS

"Obviously they appreciate their tourists, and treat them accordingly.

"It is my humble opinion that San Diego would do well to adopt such an attitude toward tourists instead of treating them as they now do. Tourists receive tickets for the most minor infraction and understandable errors."

Unlawfully Parked Cars Face Tow-Away Under Proposed Bill

A bill before the legislature provides that vehicles left on private property without consent of the occupier can be towed away.

Section 24 of an amendment to the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act presented Wednesday would enable the occupier to have towed away any vehicle left on his property without consent.

It also provides that the occupier would have lien on the car until towing and storage charges have been paid.

A number of CCF members and one Social Credit member objected that the section put too much power in the hands of occupiers.

A RACKET

"Towing away cars is a matter for the police," said Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East). "If left in private hands, this could become a racket for the towing companies."

Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard) and Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) said the section would imperil every car parked unlawfully.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner replied that police have no right to move cars from private property. He said the section was designed to meet "a growing problem" and he didn't think any racket among towing companies would ensue.

VOTED DOWN

Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook) tried to insert an amendment that a car could be towed away only if the parking constituted an obstruction, but this was voted down.

The bill was approved by the house committee after Mr. Bonner had inserted the word "reasonable" as it affected the charges that could be made to the car owner for towing and storage.

Mr. Price said he thought it "very dangerous" to give people the right to have private cars towed away. "What about hunters?" he asked. "They usually park where they can."

Little Qualicum Park To Be Extended

Bloodied Branch, Cord Only Clues in Slayings

MRS. R. W. MURPHY

MRS. LILLIAN OETTING

MRS. MILDRED LINDQUIST

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A gnarled, bloodstained tree limb and a few pieces of red cord were objects of intense scrutiny today as police spurred efforts to solve the grisly slaying of three wealthy women on a holiday trip to a scenic Illinois resort.

But investigators admitted they still had little to go on. "It's anybody's guess," said Sgt. William Hall of the state police.

Troopers picked up two men on an anonymous tip late Wednesday night, but they were released a short time later.

The women, wives of prominent Chicago business executives, were found by a search party Wednesday on the floor of a cave in a steep-walled sandstone canyon in Starved Rock State Park, 100 miles southwest of Chicago.

BRUTAL KILLINGS

Their heads were bloodied and battered. Bruises covered other parts of their bodies. Two women were naked from the waist down. The third still wore a girdle. A finger tip was missing from one victim.

State police superintendent William Morris called it a sex crime. "One of the worst in my 19 years as a policeman."

The victims, all socially prominent in the western Chicago suburb of Riverside, were:

Mrs. Frances Murphy, wife of R. W. Murphy, vice-president and general counsel for Borg-Warner Corporation.

Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, wife of Robert Lindquist, vice-president of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank.

Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, wife of George H. Oetting, general supervisor of internal audits for the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

MIKING HOLIDAY

They had checked into the all-year resort Monday for a few days of rest and hiking along the Illinois River, and were not missed until Wednesday when Murphy telephoned the lodge. A search was organized and a group of boys from a state correctional camp discovered the gory scene after trudging through heavy snows.

The bloodied tree limb was picked up about six feet from the mouth of the cave in the canyon which has steep walls rising to 150 feet.

"This could have been used to kill them," assistant state attorney Craig Armstrong told a reporter. He pointed to the jagged knobs and sharp edge of the limb, about three feet long and 10 pounds in weight.

TIED TOGETHER

The pieces of red cord were found around the wrists of two of the victims. Investigators theorized that the assailant or assailants—most believe there were more than one—tied the two together while they attacked the third. Then in a desperate effort to avoid a similar fate, the women pulled apart.

Searchers plan to use a weed-burning machine to melt snow in the canyon, in the hope that some clue may lie beneath the wintry blanket. A snowstorm swept the area Monday night, obliterating footprints.

The bodies of two women lay side by side, almost touching each other. The third was four feet away. All were face up.

The canyon area was sealed off quickly so no clues could be destroyed.

Prado said his winnings are gone, but he stressed that this does not mean he is broke. He has held jobs steadily.

Credit Work Keeps Office Chiefs Busy

Office managers now have to be production engineers to handle the mass of data hinging on extended credit buying. Professor R. H. Heywood of UBC commerce department said here Wednesday.

Addressing the Victoria branch, National Office Management Association on "Professionalism and the Noma University Course," he said educational qualifications helped ensure standards of service but were no absolute guarantee.

Personal factors of the individual concerned had considerable bearing on this, he said.

First UBC graduates in the Noma course last year numbered 28 out of an original 55 entries. This year entries numbered 32.

A (Don't Miss) R (For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(BB PLUS) "BACHELOR OF ARTS" (Odeon)—Why this played second fiddle on the Odeon's double bill I don't know.

Personally I found it much more engaging than top-billed comedy "Too Many Crooks" with Terry-Thomas, George Cole and Brenda de Banzie that follows the adventures of a group of bungling crooks. Funny at first it became tedious in its repetitious nonsense.

On the other hand "Bachelor of Arts" is gay and vivacious as it tells of a German student, Hardy ("The One That Got Away") Kruger, entering life at Cambridge under enormous difficulties.

The idiom of the English language, for one thing, proves a tremendous barrier. Secondly he has difficulty understanding the rags of the students of his college, especially of the Dodos, a group of grimly determined youths who are under oath to carry out the most outlandish pranks, from having a bath in a girls' school to burning a human sacrifice during the madness of poppy day.

THE EASTMAN COLOR has also imbued "Bachelor of Arts" with a certain naive joy as do the beautiful building of historic Cambridge University. Adding to it all is an antique auto race, the famed boat race and the May Ball in which poor Kruger is at his wit's ends to entertain all the Dodos' gal friends at one time, making each one think that she is HIS girl.

Fortunately for Kruger his own light-of-life, Sylvia Syms, is endowed with more than an ordinary quantity of humor.

Actually, "Bachelor of Arts" is a very amusing film if one is interested in English university life.

Private Detectives Fined In Divorce Evidence Case

(Compiled from C.P.)
VANCOUVER — Two unlicensed private investigators were fined Wednesday after being convicted of loitering by night while gathering divorce evidence.

In a rare decision, Judge R. A. Sargent fined Donald Andsten $300 and Tony Petrie $200. He thereby reversed a decision of Magistrate N. J. Bartman, who had acquitted the pair.

Judge Sargent said that "as long as we have archaic divorce laws, I suppose your conduct is necessary." He found they had trespassed on the property of a woman whose husband was seeking evidence for divorce.

The two may have been following the usual methods of getting such evidence, Judge Sargent said, but the fact they didn't know they were trespassing was no excuse.

"It is the duty of the court to reassert the rights of individuals in the privacy of their homes."

NEW POLIO CASE

PRINCE GEORGE — The 12th case of paralytic polio during the current outbreak in the Burns Lake area was reported Wednesday. It was described as being of a very mild nature.

Admitted to St. John's Hospital at Vanderhoof was three-year-old Evan Casimer, an Indian boy from Stelco, near Endako, at the west end of Fraser Lake.

AGREED TO THEFT

VANCOUVER — Charles William Campbell, 20, told an Assize Court jury Wednesday he agreed to bury the safe at Johnson National Storage warehouse on Sept. 2 only on condition that the night watchman be unharmed.

Campbell is charged with the murder of 69-year-old Vaino Alto, the watchman, whom police found dead and a nearby safe blown.

The other men, Lloyd Storey and George Bernard Shaw, were found guilty of manslaughter on the same charge. Campbell is being tried separately.

He said in view of the noise of the explosion, plus the fact the safe contained an inside safe which they did not count on, they fled the scene.

Campbell said as they left he saw the watchman on the floor, but he was on one knee trying to get up. He was making guttural sounds and coughing.

CRACKDOWN CONTINUES

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—The government's crackdown on terrorist activity continued today while the Argentine economy remained paralyzed by a series of strikes.

Ships stood idle in the docks as more than half the country's stevedores demanded a 90-per cent wage increase. Sporadic strikes have affected the industry for almost three months.

The dockers' unrest has so far cost the country more than $12,000,000.

Voting for VLA Spouses Awaits Action by Ottawa

Spouses of Veterans' Land Act property owners won't get municipal voting rights on money bylaws until the federal government amends the Veterans' Land Act, the legislature was told Wednesday.

Arthur Turner (CCF, Vancouver East) brought up the campaign recently launched by the Saanich Voters' Rights Committee. He wanted to know if the Municipal Affairs department could do anything to help VLA property owners, whose land is held only in the name of the veteran who applied for the federal loan.

Most couples are able to register their deeds jointly and both are able to vote on municipal money matters. Attorney-General Robert Bonner replied the question is being investigated with Ottawa. He said the VLA property deal does not give an "outright registerable interest" to the purchaser. The only useful solution, he said, "is a procedural amendment by the department of veterans' affairs. When the VLA is brought into conformity with the rest of the problems will fall into place," he added.

Simpson's Earnings Declined Last Year

TORONTO (CP)—Simpson Ltd. had net earnings in the year ended Jan. 6 of $4,503,224 or $1.44 a share, compared with $4,624,709 or $1.53 in the preceding year.

Earnings were adversely affected, the annual report stated, by higher wages and other costs, the principal items being a resumption of the retirement-security plan payment amounting to $650,000 which was not required in the last two years, and a substantial increase in federal and municipal tax rates.

Net earnings as a percentage of sales were 2.9 per cent compared with 3.1 per cent in 1958. Net sales totalled $156,003,102, an increase of 5.8 per cent.

NOMINATIONS for the Times pictorial series on Garry Oaks have been closed. More than 100 entries, like the two shown here, have been submitted and the Oak Tree editor has to draw the line somewhere. Victory for Gaitskell As Socialism Softened

LONDON (Reuters)—The socialists decided after a marathon meeting Wednesday to "water down" the Labor party's traditional pledge to bring about large-scale nationalization.

Controversial Clause 4 of the party constitution, embodying this pledge, will remain intact, the national executive decided. But it approved the addition of a clause stating that this will not necessarily be achieved by a wholesale state takeover of private industry.

The national executive's decision amounts to a victory for party leader Hugh Gaitskell. He had fought to revise the constitution on this issue, and provoked bitter controversy from some sections of the party. It was his suggested addition to the constitution that was accepted. Party secretary Morgan Phillips said Gaitskell had pointed out that the party had been misrepresented because of lack of clarity about its real aims.

Action Pledged On Color Bars

CCF Hotel Bill Withdrawn As House United on Policy

All members of the legislature agreed Wednesday that colored persons should not be barred from hotels, motels, beer parlors or restaurants in British Columbia.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner promised that a bill to this effect will be introduced next year after Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) cited cases of color discrimination in Vancouver.

He told of a negro being refused admission to a beer parlor; of a colored U.S. Air Force sergeant being refused hotel accommodation; of a married couple being refused motel accommodation booked in advance because the wife was colored.

"This is really deplorable at a time when we are striving to ease international tensions," Mr. Turner said. "It is an issue that rises above political party considerations."

THROWN OUT

Tony Gargrave (CCF-Mackenzie) said two Indians were "forcefully and rudely" ejected from a Vancouver hotel but the management took no notice of a drunken white man sprawling in a chair in the hotel lobby.

"I would make an issue of this but there has since been a change of management," Mr. Gargrave said. "This is a very unhappy state of affairs in a country which is supposed to be enlightened and I think we should make a declaration of principle on it."

Mr. Turner tried to establish this principle in a private bill against racial discrimination.

He withdrew the bill amid applause from both sides after Mr. Bonner promised that the government would introduce such a bill next year following study and investigation.

"You may not be here next year," remarked Victoria Liberal member George Gregory. CCF leader Robert Strachan promised that if the CCF is the government in B.C. next year, it will enact such a bill.

REST ASSURED

"So the public can be assured that regardless which party wins the next election, there will be legislation protecting colored persons from discriminatory treatment."

Premier Bennett said if Mr. Turner withdrew his bill it would save giving the impression the government was opposed in principle to its recommendations.

"But legislation of this kind requires careful drafting and planning," he declared.

Mr. Bonner thanked Mr. Turner for his "handsome gesture" in withdrawing the bill.

"I can assure him the government is in basic sympathy with its principle and I have a draft in hand with respect to its general objectives."

3 Die in Flames

OTTAWA (CP)—A mother and her two young children died Tuesday night in searing flames that erupted when gasoline was poured on a small wood-burning heater to get it started.

... 'ARMED TO TEETH,' BEN-GURION HECKLED

LONDON (AP)—Crowds of Arab students shouting anti-Israeli slogans paraded at London airport today as Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion arrived for talks with British leaders.

Police hustled the demonstrators out of the way. A huge banner with "Israel is armed to the teeth" in foot-high letters was torn apart in the tussle.

U.S. Urged by Ike to Admit More Immigrants, Refugees

Racial Barrier Removal Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to immediately permit twice as many immigrants to come to the United States and open the gates to refugees from persecution anywhere in the world.

A key feature of his program would be the abandonment of racial barriers and the easing of nationality restrictions.

In a special message sent to the House and Senate, Eisenhower recommended immediate passage of legislation to double the over-all annual immigration quotas.

At present, about 154,000 immigrants come to the U.S. under the annual quotas, set by law. The president's program would raise this to about 300,000 by allowing quota immigration equal to one-sixth of 1 per cent of the total U.S. population each year.

Under the proposed legislation, refugees from oppression would be allowed to come here under parole.

His special legislation for the refugees would allow acceptance of thousands of victims from oppression and those forced to flee their homes because of political, racial or religious persecution.

The White House explained that this would be general in application and not limited to victims of communism. It could mean admission of refugees from upheavals in Latin America.

In backing his proposal for the admission of refugees on a parole basis, Eisenhower noted that 1960 was "World Refugee Year." He said that nations in the past which granted asylum to victims of persecution never had cause to regret their action.

"These persons with their intellectual idealism and toughness will become worthwhile citizens and will keep this nation strong and respected as a contributor of thought and ideas," he told Congress.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
O God, we sit across the aisle from our fellows in the bus and do not smile. An aged neighbor tries to detain us long enough to tell us something and so become useful and wanted again, and we shake him off. O God, why do we raise these barriers? What is the sin of man, that he can't be comfortable with his fellow man? Help us, O God, to think upon these things and be ashamed; in Jesus' name, Amen.

FLORIDA DAM BREAK THREAT TO 25,000

PLANT CITY, Fla. (AP)—The Lake Magdalene dam in North Tampa burst today, threatening the homes of about 25,000 persons with flooding.

Tractors and bulldozers were hurried to the area, hoping to check the water and ease the danger to Forest Hills section two miles south of the dam.

Residents of that area were advised to take immediate precautions.

Small craft warnings were hoisted around the entire Florida peninsula as violent weather lashed the state for the third straight day.

Canada Policy Attacked

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., told the Abbotsford Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night the government's attitude toward immigration changes with prosperity of recession.

Speaking on the economic outlook of Canada, Mr. Grauer said: "Immigration is not something a country can turn off or on at will."

"If it is important for the future growth of Canada to have a steady flow of immigrants, federal policy will have to allow a reasonable number of immigrants to enter Canada even during a period of some recession."

2nd French Bomb Tuesday

PARIS (UPI)—France plans to explode its second nuclear device at its Sahara desert testing ground shortly after daylight next Tuesday, an authoritative source said today. That is the day before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is arriving on a state visit.

"All right, children, finish up... then we'll go and try to find some wild flowers..." —Baron, Victoria Daily Times.

RUSSIA RAPS UNDERGROUND TEST BY U.S.

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today attacked the United States for its intention to explode an underground nuclear device next January.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told a session of the three-power conference on a nuclear test ban that he found the news "most discouraging," conference sources said.

But the sources said that Tsarapkin's remarks were "mild" compared to his previous attacks on the United States.

The Joyce McKee rink of Saskatoon today captured the Western Canada Women's Curling Championship.

The impressive prairie foursome defeated Mrs. Dorothy Thompson of Edmonton, 1954 western champion from Alberta, 14-11, in the final round at the Victoria Curling Club.

The Saskatchewan rink went through the double round-robin competition with a record of five wins and one loss.

Alberta finished second with a 4-2 mark.

The Saskatoon rink, including Sylvia Fedoruk, Donna Balding, Muriel Cohen, now moves into an east-west play-off at Oshawa, Ontario, to determine the Canadian champion.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The head of the Cuban delegation to the Inter-American defence board resigned today after denouncing Prime Minister Fidel Castro as a stooge of international communism.

THEY DON'T ALL LOVE THE IRISH IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—A 50-year-old physician was seized early today while daubing orange paint over the green divider line painted along Fifth Avenue for the St. Patrick's Day parade.

The man identified himself as Dr. Lester Livingston. He was charged with malicious mischief. Police said they found him, with paint brush and bucket, repainting the green-strip between 67th and 68th streets, in front of the reviewing stand. They said about 50 feet of the green line had been changed. The still-wet orange paint was washed away.

SECOND TRIAL MAY 23

Carole Set Free On $25,000 Bail

VOLCANO ROCKS ISLE

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A volcano erupted with a shattering roar on a tiny island off New Guinea today, burying new native villages under a shower of hot ash and lava.

No loss of life was expected, however, because the 4,000 inhabitants had been warned of the impending eruption by months of earth trembling and subterranean rumblings.

The two villages, nestled on the slopes of the volcano of Manam Island, were evacuated some time ago on the orders of New Guinea authorities.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge today ordered Carole Tregoff released on $25,000 bail, pending her retrial with Dr. R. Bernard Finch on charges of murdering his wife.

The court set the retrial for May 23.

Tears rolled down the cheeks of the surgeon's mistress as she heard the order letting her out of jail.

Dr. Finch came over and whispered to her. He was denied freedom on bail.

Also, turned down was a motion by Carole's lawyer to have her trial separated from the doctor's.

Their sensational first trial ended last Saturday when a jury, after a week of deliberation, could not agree on a verdict.

There'll be flurry in strait 'Sea Monster' Here Friday

The 635-ton aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea is scheduled to arrive off the Victoria waterfront at 8 a.m. Friday.

On her way from Bremerton to Vancouver for a good visit at the mainland port, the big carrier will be the centre of a flurry of activity in Juan de Fuca Strait, involving helicopters, RCN surface craft, and a pilotage launch.

She will steam slowly up the Strait from Bremerton, close to the U.S. shore until she turns north in the vicinity of Port Townsend.

The Coral Sea will reach the pilotage buoy in the freeway about two miles south of the Brochier Ledge light at 8 a.m.

COPTER TO LAND
At approximately 8:15 a.m., an RCNCF helicopter from Sea Island will land on her flight deck to disembark a party of armed forces representatives from Vancouver.

Shortly after 8:45, a navy Harbormaster will put RCN officials and press representatives aboard the ship.

At 8:30 a.m., RCN helicopter No. 621 from Patricia Bay airport will land and Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer, Pacific Coast, will board the Coral Sea with his flag lieutenant.

A second RCN helicopter (No. 623) will hover overhead to take official navy photographs.

At 8:45 a.m., the B.C. Pilot launch will go alongside to put the pilot, Capt. Walter Gosse of Vancouver, aboard.

The Coral Sea will then steam slowly toward the mainland, using the outside passage around East Point.

Pender Island residents will see her pass between 11:30 a.m. and noon.

Capt. J. S. Gray, commanding officer of the Coral Sea, told the Times he has a "little surprise" for Vancouver. Going under the Lions Gate Bridge, crewmen on the flight deck will spell out the word "Canada" below an outline of a maple leaf.

Best vantage point to see the big ship while she lies off Brochier Ledge will be in the Ogden Point-Holland Point-Clover Point area.

'Creeping Anarchy' Off Coasts

Considers Limit

GENEVA (AP)—Representatives of 86 countries met today to begin another attempt at agreement on how far out to sea a country's sovereignty extends.

Their purpose is to halt what many officials call creeping anarchy along the world's coasts.

The conference on the law of the sea here two years ago accepted four conventions which for the first time set world-wide rules governing territorial waters, the high seas and the offshore shallow ocean beds of the continental shelves.

LIMITS NOT SET
But these are not effective without agreement on where sovereign rights should end and the open sea begin.

Many maritime powers still abide by the three-mile limit generally accepted since the time of sailing vessels and naval guns that could not shoot that far. But more and more smaller and younger countries have pushed their sea borders beyond that limit.

The insistence of many Latin American and Asian countries and the Communist bloc forced the leading maritime powers to drop the principle of the three-mile limit in favor of a United States-British compromise—six miles for territorial waters and 12 miles for exclusive fishing rights.

But this failed to receive a two-thirds majority from the conference two years ago. It is expected to be resubmitted in revised form.

Since the last maritime conference, Iran and Panama have pushed their sea borders out toward the 12-mile limit. Britain has granted Denmark exclusive fishing rights in a six-mile belt around the Faroe Islands.

STARTED FISH WAR
And Iceland triggered a "fish war" with Britain by extending its territorial waters from three to 12 miles in 1958.

Britain, whose boats pioneered fishing in Icelandic waters, refused to recognize the new limit and sent naval vessels to protect trawlers fishing up to the old limit of three miles from the Icelandic coast. The British trawlers and their navy protectors have withdrawn for the duration of the conference.

Chile, El Salvador and Peru claim sovereign rights up to distances of 200 miles. At least 14 countries claim 12-mile limits and 14 others with narrower territorial belts, among them Canada, claim exclusive fishing rights up to 200 miles out.

Canada's delegation at the conference here is being led by George Drew, high commissioner to the United Kingdom.

Quiz Whiz Not So Smart On Job Test

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Teddy Nadler, who won $264,000 on television quiz shows, today lost a chance for a $13-a-day job as a census taker when he flunked the qualification test.

Jack W. Traverse Jr., regional field director for the census bureau, said Nadler "did well on the first 30 questions but did not make the grade on the final 16."

The first part of the test consisted of multiple-choice questions on the definitions of words. The second part was a map comprehension section.

The applicants were asked to do such things as indicating which of several buildings was closest to a certain highway.

Traverse said Nadler apparently "got mixed up on east and west."

WHO DAUBED
SWASTIKAS?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two crude swastikas were mysteriously scribbled in the guest book at the national gallery of art today minutes after West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer signed the book.

The swastikas appeared directly over Adenauer's signature.

An art gallery spokesman said the swastikas could only have been drawn by members of the press or members of Adenauer's party. He said these were the only persons who had access to the gallery between the time the chancellor signed the book and the time the swastikas were discovered.

Newsman, however, had been barred from the room where the guest book is kept.

POLICE TODAY BURNED through a heavy layer of snow in this picturesque end of St. Louis Canyon on Starved Rock State Park, Ill., in search of clues to the murderers of three socialite matrons whose rav-

ished bodies were found in a nearby cave. Police said they had no new clues but flame-throwers were being used to melt the snow in the hope that something would be found. See Page 29. (AP Wirephoto)

BOY FINED FOR RIFLE

All His Virtues No Safety Catch

(From Duncan Bureau)

Courtesy, cordiality, and honesty were of little use to a juvenile who pleaded guilty in Duncan police court to having carried a firearm without the supervision of an adult.

William Fowkes, game warden, praised his qualities, but said "something had to be done to stop presumptive and impulsive shooting," and recommended his gun be taken away.

Juvenile court judge A. C. Sutton fined the lad $10 and $5.50 costs, and ordered the rifle confiscated.

No Immunity From Tax Boost

The B.C. legislature gave second reading Wednesday to a bill removing immunity from school tax boosts for Port Alberni operations, of Macmillan and Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

J. Donald Smith (S.C. Victoria) said he hoped the government would give similar consideration to Victoria in the future. (Empress Hotel has a flat rate tax deal with the city which tends to excuse the hotel from meeting boosts in school taxes to the detriment of other taxable properties.)

The Port Alberni firm had an agreement with the city which still had five years to run. It fixed the assessment of the property at $100,000 and the assessment for machinery and improvements at $700,000.

FULL SHARE PAID
The company gave the city a grant in lieu of increased school taxes which would have been chargeable if the agreement did not exist and in the past two years has paid the city its full share of general purpose taxes.

But the city has been fighting for rescission of the assessment agreement since 1956. The company won a legal battle on the claim. Attorney-General Robert Bonner said despite the court decision the arrangement was not in keeping with government policy.

The company holdings are now valued a more than $32,000,000.
Mr. Bonner noted the bill if passed would not become law until proclaimed. "If any better arrangement can be arrived at" by the company and the city—it might never be enforced, he said.

SCATTERED SUBDIVISIONS FOUL UP SCHOOL PLANNING

NANAIMO — School board planning is impossible because of real estate firms which are "promoting subdivisions in scattered profusion," according to board engineer James Thorpe.
Elementary schools are inadequate, he said, despite plans of far-flung trustees several years ago.

Dial Switchover Starts

(From Duncan Bureau)

Installation of equipment will begin this week for a B.C. Telephone Company 20-line community exchange to serve Thetis and Kuper Islands starting May 1.

Equipment will be located in the Thetis Island Marine Medical Mission building. Dial service will replace crank-type telephones and operator service from Chemainus. Cost of the conversion will be about $34,000.

Lionel Huxtable, district commercial manager, said

crews have completed a Island-to-the-Indian Mission School.

Circuits will be provided to Chemainus to coincide with the conversion of Chemainus exchange to dial service, also on May 1.

Another Tax Boost In Big School Budget

$800,000 Boost For Crofton Mill

CROFTON—Installation of new machinery and equipment will begin shortly at the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill here, it was announced in Vancouver today by C. D. Dickey Jr., company president.

The program, to cost $850,000 and take eight months to complete, will be designed to improve manufacturing efficiencies and upgrade the quality of the product rather than to increase production, Mr. Dickey said.

The mill began production of bleached kraft pulp in the winter of 1958. Shipments are made directly by both ships and railroad to destinations throughout the world.

Ottawa Funeral For Minister

Funeral services were held in Ottawa today for Rev. D'Arcy Whitmore, 90, retired United Church minister and father of Rev. Cecil Whitmore, of Sidney, who died at his home in the capital, Saturday.

Two of Mr. Whitmore's three sons followed him into the ministry. His other clergyman son is at Nelson.

A DOLLAR FOR EACH DAY OF YEAR

GALIANO ISLAND—The Red Cross campaign here went "over the top" well ahead of time this week, with $365 donated in the drive to raise $350.

"One dollar for each day of the year," said campaign director Mrs. P. A. New.

When reminded this is leap year, she hurriedly raised another dollar.

(From Duncan Bureau)

NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council Wednesday confirmed the appointment of Frank G. Rainsford, Victoria, as municipal forest consultant at a retaining fee of $100 per month and a cost of $50 per day for field work.

The agreement will be reviewed in six months' time, Reeve D. C. Morton said.

(From Duncan Bureau)
NORTH COWICHAN—First figures showing North Cowichan municipal costs for school purposes of $420,420 for Cowichan District 65 and $162,138 for Ladysmith District 67, were approved Wednesday by the municipal council.

Municipal officials estimated the 1960 expenditure for Cowichan would add three and one-half mills to the ratepayer's bill, bringing the total to 20 mills.

Mill rate for Ladysmith would be increased by nine and one-half mills to a record 30.21 mills.

Municipal clerk A. Vande-Casteyen said that because of some surplus in 1959 the increases would actually be eight and one-half mills for Ladysmith and two mills for North Cowichan.

MORE AHEAD

"We're going to have to face rising costs for a number of years yet. This is a district where the school population increases by 10 per cent a year," George Whittaker, Cowichan School Board chairman, said Wednesday. The school board's budget will be released next week.

Regarding the costs, Coun. A. Staples said: "Eight and one-half mills! Lord love us." Council approved the estimates after Reeve D. C. Morton remarked: "Year after year we have gone into these estimates, and the amount disputable is about $300 out of $753,000."

Falcon wagons convert from caller to hauler in seconds. Just fold the rear seat forward and you're all set with 76 cubic feet of loadspace. No cushions to remove and stow.

To look at them, who'd ever guess these little beauties actually give you more loadspace than some of today's full-sized station wagons. They seat six passengers in sedan comfort. Fold down the rear seat and a seven-foot ladder fits with the tailgate up. Yet the Falcon is more than two feet shorter than regular wagons. And with excellent all around visibility it's mighty easy to handle and park. Easy on the pocket-book, too. You get up to 35 mpg on regular gas, up to 4,000 miles between oil changes. Open Up Roads Chamber's Plea

Top Issue As Island Meet Opens

Road access on Vancouver Island, especially to the north, will be one of the main issues under discussion at the 42nd annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, which opened today in Port Alberni.

Campbell River Chamber of Commerce will ask support of resolutions to make the vast area to its west and north available to private citizens.

Among these are bids to have the Elk River-Gold River road opened to private cars during hours when it is not needed for logging purposes, to improve the road from Elk Falls Park to Camp Eight, or Quinsam, and to establish a road over the shortest route between Camp Eight and Upper Campbell Lake.

The Campbell River Chamber also will ask that a short-term fresh water angler's license be provided for out-of-province fishermen to save them the cost of a $7 license for the year.

Tofino Chamber of Commerce will propose that the Alberni-Tofino road, opened last fall, be kept open to the public at all times.

It is closed during logging company working hours, but the chamber feels it should be opened because of its tourist value and the fact that it gives the only Island access to the open Pacific Ocean.

CAMPFIRE

Campfires at west coast points, establishment of a ferry service between Quadra Island and Lund on the mainland, extension of the Island highway to Port Hardy, and regulation of salmon "mooching" in Cowichan Bay also will be sought.

Featured speakers will be Dr. Gordon Shrum of the UBC physics department; Ernest Evans, B.C. Government Travel Bureau director; Lloyd McKenzie, Victoria lawyer, and Marilyn Ardley, Victoria University student council president.

The convention will end Saturday.

UN Trip Prize For High School Speaking Contest

An all-expense-paid trip to the United Nations headquarters in New York will be top prize in a speaking contest Tuesday for eight Grade 11 students from city high schools.

Sponsored by Oddfellows Victoria Lodge No. 1 and Rebekah-Lodges Colfax No. 1, and Carle No. 45, the contest will be held at 8.30 p.m. in the Oddfellows Hall on Douglas.

All competitors will speak on: "Why I would like to see the United Nations in Action."

The United Nations' Association in Canada also is sponsoring its annual high school seminar on the UN this summer.

Representatives from each of the Greater Victoria senior high schools are expected to join about 100 B.C. high school students at the seminar in the University of B.C. Aug. 28-Sept. 2.

Local students will be selected as delegates by school UN clubs during May.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have an idea for an invention. What can I do about having it made and patented? D.M.C.

A. Best procedure is to have a lawyer make a search of patents on file in Ottawa to see if your invention has not already been patented. If it has not been patented, you may take out a patent. About having it made—well, it would depend whether your invention is a better mousetrap or something more complex. You might make it yourself, or interest a firm in its manufacture.

COIN SOCIETY AIDS IN WRECK

Victoria Numismatic Society has undertaken to supervise research into a coin found in the "mystery wreck" of a sailing ship during RCN diving operations in Sydney Inlet this week.

The blackened, encrusted coin was found under the step of one of the masts, and may provide a clue to the date of the wreck.

Car 'Borrower' Jailed 30 Days After Chase

Three Charges Before Court

Driver of a car which led a city motorcycle officer on a wild two-mile chase early Saturday was sentenced in city police court today to a total 30 to 35 days in jail.

George P. Thomas, Mount Newton Cross Road, pleaded guilty to criminally negligent driving, which drew 30 days; taking a car without the owner's consent, bringing a concurrent sentence of 30 days, and driving without a licence, for which he was fined $35 or an additional five days in jail.

Noting a pre-sentence report on Thomas, Magistrate William Ostler called the accused's conduct of the past few years "completely irresponsible."

He said, "You are going to have to learn more responsible behavior if you are going to get along in the community."

Thomas took a car belonging to Patrick Smith, Brentwood, from Fisgard Street at 1 a.m., drove it recklessly over waterfront streets, Johnson Street bridge and Esquimalt Road, going into broadside skids on each turn, and finally lost control at Head and Lampson in Esquimalt, where he bolted into the bush.

TRAFFIC FINES

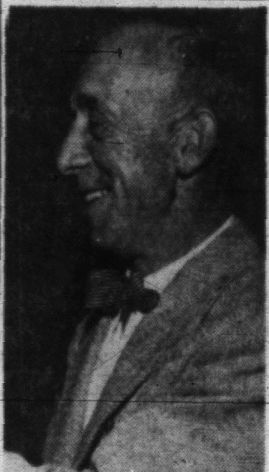

In city police court today: Ernest L. Knott, 424 Skinner, $35; Frank D. Milton, 2224 Richmond, $40; Jerry B. Rush-ton, 642 Head, $35; Doris M. Munden, 1515 Camosun, $35, for careless driving.

Victor Warjag, Whaletown, $15 for driving through a red light.

Leslie James Kelly, 2008 Fernwood, $20 for failing to have valid plates.

John F. Ritz, 4155 Tyndall, $15 for speeding over 15.

Ian Walter McDougall, 2124 Central, $20; Raymond Lawres, 1514 Burnside West, $20, for driving without a licence.

'Let Go Against Advice'

Doctor Testifies At Murder Trial

Mrs. Edith Etheline Davis was discharged from the observation ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital only 1½ months before the knife-slaying death of her husband William A. Davis, a Victoria psychiatrist testified today.

Dr. D. E. Alcorn told an Assize Court jury Mrs. Davis, who stands charged with the murder which took place Oct. 9, 1947, at 1832 Crescent, said the accused had been in the psychiatric ward from Aug. 5 to Aug. 21.

She had been admitted, he said, after going to city police "for protection."

Dr. Alcorn said Mrs. Davis gave him a lengthy statement of her difficulties in which she charged her employers were against her, that her food was poisoned, and that the poison was placed in the food by her husband.

From notes, the doctor read a statement by the accused in which she told him "they wanted to kill me because I was not good enough for their social position."

She had charged also that "an Indian guide" had been hired to kill her.

It was then Dr. Alcorn recommended Mrs. Davis be admitted to the observation ward.

"In my opinion she was suffering a paranoid condition," Mrs. Davis was discharged "more or less against my advice," said the doctor.

BECAME SUSPICIOUS

She herself felt she shouldn't be in there, he said. She later "had become suspicious of myself and the staff."

Dr. Alcorn said Mrs. Davis was discharged because to retain persons against their will "without co-operation of relatives" was difficult.

Dr. Alcorn interviewed Mrs. Davis on 15 different occasions during her hospitalization.

Subsequent reports were received by the psychiatrist from Mr. Davis who "insisted she was very well."

The psychiatrist saw her after the slaying and "she was quite confused. She continued to believe there had been a conspiracy against her."

(Mrs. Davis had worked as a housekeeper, in cafes and in a jewelry store before her employment by Mr. Davies as a housekeeper.)

VODKA AND CASH

Third Burglary At Golf Club

SHOP-CENTRE LIQUOR STORE FOR COLWOOD?

The B.C. Liquor Control Board is investigating location of a new liquor store in the Langford-Colwood area.

Specific enquiries have been made in connection with premises in the new Colwood Corners shopping centre, it was learned today.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he did not think the plans were advanced, "but the board has been making some enquiries."

Colwood district burglars hit their favorite target — Royal Colwood Golf Club — for the third time since last fall when they stole liquor and cash from an office early today.

Four bottles of rum, a bottle of vodka, $28 in silver and $7 in bills were taken after a cabinet was broken open.

Entry to the clubhouse has been the same in each case, by forcing a front door.

About $100 was stolen in a burglary Feb. 27 and $70 was taken from the office in the break-in about six months ago.

Colwood RCMP said the premises were found secure in a check made at 1.30 a.m. The burglary was discovered at 6.40 a.m. by caretaker James Haynes.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

University of Victoria student council's annual awards banquet and dance will be held in the Crystal Garden, Friday night.

Presentation of athletics and campus activity awards will be made at the banquet beginning at 7 p.m. The dance will follow at 9 p.m.

Prof. Fred Soward, dean of graduate studies at the University of British Columbia, will address the English-Speaking Union in the University of Victoria tonight at 8.15 p.m. on the topic: "India Revisited." The meeting is open to the public.

Three Greater Victoria high school principals will address the Lansdowne Junior High PTA, Monday, at 8 p.m., concerning high school courses and planning.

Speakers will be G. A. Thompson, Victoria High; E. Forester, Mount Douglas High, and C. Gibbard, Oak Bay High. The meeting will be in the school library.

Esquimalt Progressive Conservative Association has elected Rev. J. A. Roberts, St. Paul's Anglican Church, as president of the group. First vice-president is H. Piggett and Mrs. Violet Bryant is second vice-president. Mrs. M. D. Bowden is secretary and Capt. R. H. Fort, treasurer. Others named to the executive committee are Capt. A. Spears, James Bryant (newly-named candidate), R. L. McQuarrie and Mr. and Mrs. M. Burbridge.

Ken Darley and David Hopson won places in the finals of the 14th annual Golden Gavel competition when they placed first and second in Wednesday's session at the City Hall. The five-day speaking competition is sponsored by the area Toastmasters' Clubs. Next session will be at 8 p.m. Friday in city council chambers.

Mary Richmond, nursing director at Royal Jubilee Hospital for the past nine years, will leave this fall to take over as director of nursing studies in McGill University. Jubilee administrator George Masters announced Wednesday night.

James Derby, of Victoria, was fined $50 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday to a charge of being a minor in possession of liquor.

The legislative committee on public accounts Wednesday claimed the B.C. highways department should narrow its estimates of cost of future projects.

The report to the legislature noted there has been a wide difference between the total price of some highways and the original estimate or tendered price. Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, whose department will spend $85,000,000 this year, said recently in the House that costs often are pushed upward by factors unknown when a job starts, such as hidden rock. "The engineers can't see under the ground," he said.

Purse containing $95 lost by Mrs. Daniel Smith, Brentwood Bay reserve, has been returned to her.

It was found at the VON rummage sale Saturday by an unidentified man who turned the purse over to city police Wednesday.

A fund started by the VON to replace the money lost had "a small amount" in it, and money will be returned to contributors.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce members will canvass 600 smaller business firms in Greater Victoria to solicit for the Victoria University building fund.

Members endorsed the proposal at a meeting Wednesday. Canvass will start March 28.

A Glen Lake juvenile boy was assessed $3 costs and put on two months' probation when he appeared in Colwood juvenile court Wednesday on a charge of stealing a bicycle.

The Dickens Fellowship will hold its monthly meeting at the home of the president, E. F. Wetherston, 565 Marielfield Street, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Cadboro Bay Ratepayers' Association will hold a meeting on March 24 at 8 p.m. at St. George—the Martyr parish hall to discuss three zoning applications for the establishment of shopping centres in the Cadboro Bay district.

All of the proposed shopping centres are situated in the vicinity of Penrhyn, Cadboro Bay Road, Maynard and Hobbs Road.

New "Do Not Pass" signs have been posted at the borders of four school zones on four-lane streets by city traffic department.

Traffic engineer Norman Worsley today said the signs went up this month as a further conversion to a new manual designed to bring uniformity in traffic signs across Canada.

They replace the "Crosswalk Ahead, No Passing" signs that were located at Douglas at Kings, Government at John, Hillside at Rose and Fort at Moss.

Canada Policy

Attacked

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., told the Abbotsford Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night the government's attitude toward immigration changes with prosperity or recession.

Speaking on the economic outlook of Canada, Mr. Grauer said: "Immigration is not something a country can turn off or on at will."

"If it is important for the future growth of Canada to have a steady flow of immigrants, federal policy will have to allow a reasonable number of immigrants to enter Canada, even during a period of some recession."

ANARCHY

In favor of a United States-British compromise—six miles for territorial waters and 12 miles for exclusive fishing rights.

But this failed to receive a two-thirds majority from the conference two years ago. It is expected to be resubmitted in revised form.

Since the last maritime conference, Iran and Panama have pushed their sea borders out toward the 12-mile limit. Britain has granted Denmark exclusive fishing rights in a six-mile belt around the Faroe Islands.

STARTED FISH WAR

And Iceland triggered a "fish war" with Britain by extending its territorial waters from three to 12 miles in 1958. Britain, whose boats pioneered fishing in Icelandic waters, refused to recognize the new limit and sent naval vessels to protect trawlers fishing up to the old limit of three miles from the Icelandic coast. The British trawlers and their navy protectors have withdrawn for the duration of the conference.

Chile, El Salvador and Peru claim sovereign rights up to distances of 200 miles. At least 14 countries claim 12-mile limits and 14 others with narrower territorial belts, among them Canada, claim exclusive fishing rights up to 200 miles out.

Canada's delegation at the conference here is being led by George Drew, high commissioner to the United Kingdom.

... 'ARMED TO TEETH,' BEN-GURION HECKLED

LONDON (AP)—Crowds of Arab students shouting anti-Israeli slogans paraded at London airport today as Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion arrived for talks with British leaders.

Police hustled the demonstrators out of the way. A huge banner with "Israel is armed to the teeth" in foot-high letters was torn apart in the tussle.

No Immunity From Tax Boost

The B.C. legislature gave the city which tends to excuse second reading Wednesday a bill removing immunity in school taxes to the detriment of other taxable properties.

The Port Alberni firm had an agreement with the city which still had five years to run. It fixed the assessment of the property at $100,000 and the assessment for machinery and improvements at $700,000.

The company gave the city a grant in lieu of increased school taxes which would have been chargeable if the agreement did not exist and in the past two years has paid the city its full share of general purpose taxes.

But the city has been fighting for recision of the assessment agreement since 1956. The company won a legal battle on the claim. Attorney General Robert Bonner said despite the court decision the arrangement was not in keeping with government policy.

Mr. Bonner noted the bill it passed would not become law until proclaimed. "If any better arrangement can be arrived at" by the company and the city it might never be enforced, he said.

Another Tax Boost In Big School Budget

$850,000 Job For Crofton Mill

CROFTON—Installation of new machinery and equipment will begin shortly at the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill here, it was announced in Vancouver today by C. D. Dickey Jr., company president.

The program, to cost $850,000 and take eight months to complete, will be designed to improve manufacturing efficiencies and upgrade the quality of the product rather than to increase production, Mr. Dickey said.

The mill began production of bleached kraft pulp in the winter of 1958. Shipments are made directly by both ships and railroad to destinations throughout the world.
